Schools Join In Rally Portraying War Effort

Rochester, and St. Mary's, Canandaigua. Stewards for these booths are Jean Chiles and James O'Brien from Academy of the Sacred Heart and Aquinas Institute. Patriotic and martial music will be furnished by Aquinas Band. Among the numbers on their program are the Marines and March of the Pipers; My Hero—Concert March; Militant; and All Out for America. Under the chairmanship of Robert Glass, Aquinas will handle the offering for the rally. The great funds will be struck by a military drill, "Victory in Action," presented by the students of Our Lady of Mercy High School. Majestic Barnett will portray the part of Our Lady of Victory while Shirley Bethwick is the narrator. At the colors affair, the audience will join in the singing of the National Anthem.

Speakers Listed
Highlighting the program Chaplain Eugene Le Guik, S.J., pastor of St. Joseph's, will stress a realistic check with his message. On the speaker's platform also will be Mayor Samuel Dickler, Raymond Hill and Warren Parks of the local and State Stamp Committee. His Excellency, Bishop Kearney, will have a solemn message of commendation to all participating schools. According to Rev. John M. Duffy, reports of Stamp sales and other war activities will be given as a part of his program to acquaint with Rochester with the school's war program. The invitations to attend the rally have been accepted by the out-of-town schools of the diocese. Admission is by ticket only.

Dr. Max Jordan Will Direct NBC Programs

NEW YORK.—Dr. Max Jordan, formerly European correspondent of the National Broadcasting Company, has been named director of the religious programs department of the NBC. Prominent for many years in radio news broadcasting, Dr. Jordan formerly was an outstanding figure in European journalism. For a long period he served as a Washington correspondent for Continental European daily newspapers. A Catholic, he received his Ph.D. degree from the University of Iowa.

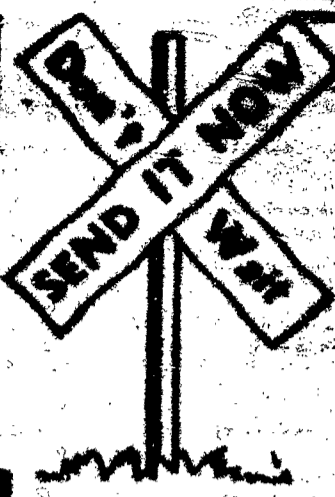

Friendly competitions between the four schools will minimize the sales of Bonds and Stamps which highlights the Schools at War rally scheduled for 8:00 o'clock on Saturday. Receipts, minute men and medals from each school will be found among their special decorated booth.

During the evening talks will be taken periodically to show the progress of the sales. Miss Stone will be in charge of the Academy of the Sacred Heart's booth. She will be assisted by Janet Donovan, Dorothy Crowley, Peggy Proctor. Mary Ann McGovern from Nazareth Academy will manage their uniquely arranged booth. Assisting her will be Betty Jean Baker, Jane McDonald, Kathleen Smith and Joanne Roche. Our Lady of Mercy High will have Frances Hartwell as chairman of Stamp sales, assisted by Betty Jean Baker, Patricia Hagan, Patricia Chatterton, Margaret Dell, Davis Duffy, Virginia Mahoney, Annette Miller, Mary Ann Watson and Jean Ford.

John Reiter message Aquinas set up with Joseph Apponyi assisting. During the past week Aquinas has been busy arranging of business through numerous posters and pep talks. As a major part of the rally, the Rev. John M. Duffy, as Chairman of the Schools at War program, will make a complete report of the stupendous sales of Stamps and Bonds handled by the parochial schools of the diocese since January, 1942. Special commendation will be given to those schools already flying the Minute Man flag for a 100th monthly pep participation in Stamp buying. These schools now flying the flag are Holy Family High, Auburn; St. Mary's, St. Alphonse, Albany; St. John's High, Geneva, first school from Ontario County; Our Lady of Mercy High, first High School in Monroe County, and Holy Family elementary school, Rochester. Other schools qualifying for the flag are St. Salome's and St. George's, both having certificates; Nazareth Academy, St. Agnes, Avon; St. Stephen's, Geneva, and Klairia Catholic High School.
