Students Consider Post-War Plans At Nazareth Sessions

By Doris A. Dunken

Discussions were continued this week in underclassmen meetings concerned with post-war planning on the basis of the Papal Peace Program. The upperclassmen presented a review of several war songs as highlights of the weekly Peace Hour.

For some weeks all classes at Nazareth College have been making a systematic study of planning for peace. An hour a week has been devoted to studying conditions and factors that cause war and to tracing solutions of those elements in the modern world. Major current plans for peace that have been proposed by American and British statesmen, and the Peace Proposals of Our Holy Father and their interpretation through the Hoover-Stimson studies, the Colbertson Plan and several others have been taken into consideration.

At present the students are forming commissions to work on the various phases of a peace plan and according to their judgment the best points of plans already proposed, and original ideas suggested by the participants will be considered.

Five students were recently appointed to attend the miniature League of Nations at Hamilton College, at which they represented New Zealand. Their experiences will provide helpful ideas for the present program.

BACK UP THE BOYS WITH BONDS

In every price range today there are handsome flowered materials for slip covers. The patterns are designed so that a motif may be centered in each part of a chair to make a panel. This is not difficult to do if you cut straight pieces first according to the widest and longest measurement of the part to be covered, plus one inch at all seams and four inches for a seat tuck-in.

Pin and trim to fit, as shown. Seams that are to be sewn without wetting are pinned and basted from the wrong side. Unpin seams where wetting is to be used. Baste the wetting to the right side of the seam edge, then baste the seat. A right-toe cording foot is best for wetted seams as it allows the bulky material to be on the left where it will rest on the machine leaf.

Mrs. Fred De Muth, President of the Caring Deansery Council, N. C. W. reports everyone busy with war work.

As one of her activities, she has a group of office girls working one night every other week at the Red Cross Rooms.

It has been called to your attention that the Equal Rights Amendment is again before Congress. Already the Sub-Committees of the House and Senate Judiciary Committees have reported the measure favorably to both Houses of Congress.

We gave you last week some clear-cut objections to this amendment, as presented by Miss Linna Bresler, Field Secretary for the Social Action Department, N. C. W. C., and Consultant of the N. C. W. Committee on Industrial Problems.

A letter received from Miss Mary Anderson, Director of the Women's Bureau of the United States Department of Labor, calls our attention to the need of maintaining labor standards necessary to women's health along with war production.

The following Resolutions embodying these standards were unanimously adopted at a recent Conference on the Employment of Women in War Time, called by the Secretary of Labor.

Whereas millions of women are being employed in industry today and millions more must be employed in the coming year; if adequate materials to meet the needs of our armed forces are to be produced; and

Whereas the maximum output of women workers depends upon the maintenance of their efficiency and health; and

Whereas statistics show that sickness rates are much higher for women workers than for men; and

Whereas experience has proved that long hours and unwholesome working conditions contribute the main cause of sickness and absenteeism; and

Whereas this conference of commissioners and officials of State Labor Departments and the District of Columbia meeting together in Washington for two days, Mar. 11 and 12, 1943, has considered means by which the employments in war and civilian industries may most effectively be utilized; and

Whereas representatives of the War and Navy Departments attending these meetings have testified to the necessity of maintaining reasonable hour standards incorporated in existing State legislation and have asked only that exceptions be made in emergencies created by the urgency of the war effort; Therefore be it

Resolved, that this conference go on record as continuing to endorse the standards of hours of employment which have been consistently adopted by conferences during the past year between State labor commissioners and representatives of the U. S. Departments of Labor, War,

Navy and other Federal agencies, namely: The State laws and regulations embracing the following basic principles should be preserved except where modification may be necessary during the war period to insure maximum production:

- 1.—A maximum 48-hour week.
- 2.—An 8-hour day.
- 3.—One day of rest in seven.
- 4.—Adequate rest and meal periods.
- 5.—Adaptation of hours of work and working conditions to the age and sex of the worker, except that there must be no relaxation or modification of standards governing the employment of minors under 18.
- 6.—Proper safeguards for health and safety.
- 7.—The same wage rates for women as for men.

Whereas the health and well-being of women employed in civilian industries is as essential to our National wartime economy as is that of workers engaged in war industries; and

Whereas long hours and poor working conditions in civilian industries lead to sickness and absenteeism; Therefore be it

Resolved, that peacetime standards of hours and conditions of work be not relaxed in these industries in order to provide convenience, goods, and services for war workers and civilians which in peacetime may be desirable but in time of war are not truly necessary to our well-being; and be it

Resolved further, That if, in order to provide for the basic subsistence needs of war workers and civilians, a relaxation of State labor laws may be necessary, such relaxation be granted only in those areas in which critical labor shortages exist; moreover, be it

Resolved further, That in such areas of extreme labor shortages relaxations be permitted only for the production of goods and services necessary to provide for the basic minimum subsistence needs of war workers and the civilian population, and that definite standards be established for determining the need for such relaxation.
