PAROCHIAL LIFE

(The following review on the pamphlet being studied by the diocese-wide discussion clubs in this diocese, this year, appeared in the March 18, 1943 issue of The Commonweal in "The Inner Forum" department. It is recommended not only to those in the discussion clubs but to all "parishioners.")

"For many a parishioner in our age this organic vision [of the parish] has been lost; for him it is only a sort of 'spiritual filling and service station' attended to by priests."

This is by and large the present situation in Catholic parishes, as viewed by Father H. A. Reinhold in a brilliant new pamphlet, "Our Parish," which has just been published by the Paulist Press for the Confraternity of Christian Doctrine, Diocese of Rochester.

Prepared as a text for discussion clubs, "Our Parish" is a learned, incisive, and moving description of just what a Catholic parish is and what it should be, of what goes on or should go on in a parish church, and in the homes of the parishioners, and in their hearts and minds. It should be required reading for every Catholic child, and it is highly recommended reading for every Catholic adult.

Father Reinhold is at his best and most eloquent in those sections that deal with the sacraments. After suggesting various ways in which the Catholic family can bring the Faith more practically into their homes, he asks: "If we do not 'coordinate' these things [prayer and the sacraments] into life, if the family does not show the unity of natural and supernatural life, how can we expect our young to avoid that fatal hiatus of life which is the ruin of modern, sentimental religion: live like everybody else and have religion over on the side as your best bet of life? Is our faith destined to be a heavy, generating the whole heat of life?"

There are all kinds of valuable things within the 32 pages of "Our Parish." There are interesting little known items about Church traditions, gestures of custom, how to say advice parish life ("Normally a parish is irremovable, which means he cannot be transferred unless he agrees or his transfer is made necessary by certain legal conditions"); there is discussion of fundamental points of doctrine, especially as regards the sacraments. There are appropriate and eloquent quotations from Scripture, the Missal, Divine Office and the Saints to illustrate and sharpen and enlarge the points made in the text.

There are many evidences in the American Church that a new vitality and a new awareness of liturgical and spiritual realities is spreading through the land. One of the most hopeful is this publication, under such official auspices, of Father Reinhold's remarkable little pamphlet.

Military Chapel

Quebec.—His Eminence Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, officiated at the blessing of a new chapel erected at Military District No. 5 depot. His Eminence was received by Brigadier Edmond Blais, Officer Commanding M. D. No. 5; Lieut. Colonel F. C. McGee, commandant of the depot; Major the Rev. W. C. Clarson, representing the Catholic chaplains, and Major the Rev. Mr. Hamilton, Senior Protestant chaplain.

On Vatican Stamps

Commemorative stamps issued for Vatican City postage recently portray (above) the Holy Father's aid to war prisoners and refugees. Issued in three values, 25-c, 50-c and 1.25 lire, the set features a head of Christ in the background above the stamps, and the inscription, "I have compassion on the multitude." Another set, in the 25-c, 50-c, 1.25 lire and 5 lire values, bears a name from the consecration in Sistine Chapel of Bl. Pius IX by Pope Boniface XV, commemorating the episcopal silver jubilee of Pius XII. (N.C.W.C.)

The imitation Catholic, the Catholic who is not a doer but a hearer only, takes no care to bridle his tongue.

Laymen, plan now to make your week-end parish retreat at the Mendon Retreat House, Mendon Lakes, Geneva.

Jesuit Authors Moral Theology For Laymen

Fundamental theology, dogmatic theology, and dogmatic theology within reach of the lay man. Father Healy, who was the author for moral theology, still gave the exclusive property of private and confidential. As Regent and president of moral theology, Boston College established the moral principles of Christian conduct, expounds man's rights and duties, and sets down in detail the exact degree of evil or sin involved in the violation of these obligations. The book shows the lighter, as well as religious, the conscience of many a layman, and also lightens the burden of many a priest in the confessional, particularly, as it does, clear answers to many of the questions necessarily put to confessors by penitents.

Although written primarily for college classes in religion, the book is written in concise, straightforward prose, not in classroom jargon. Throughout practical examples illustrate the moral principles discussed. And to test the student's or reader's ability to apply these principles to everyday problems of conduct, practical cases to be analyzed are provided at the end of each chapter.

Catholic colleges, lyceums, study clubs, institutions, and private individuals will be grateful for this clear and scholarly treatise of the most complex moral problems which arise in these perplexing, but fascinating times.

200,000 Slovak Workers In Germany

NEW YORK. — Almost 200,000 Slovak workers, about 20 per cent of the country's able-bodied population, are now working in Germany, according to reports received here by the Slovak Information Service. The total population of Slovakia is 2,791,000.

At present, the Slovak press says, there are more than 170,000 workers in Czechoslovakia, 70,000 of them in Bohemia. A large proportion are so-called intellectuals.
