At the close of the Mass Bishop Kearney gave a sermon which was full of inspiration and encouragement for the Sisters laboring in the various fields of activity throughout the diocese. He stressed the manifold responsibilities which are placed upon Religious Communities at this particular time when so many children are unattended in broken households which have been upset by the war.

In closing, the Bishop said: "May I at this time take the opportunity to thank the Sisters for the very fine work that they are doing in the diocese, for the contribution that they are making to the preservation of the faith of Jesus Christ and to the sanctity of our homes."

Lauds Patriotic Effort

"May I thank you for the extra hours which you have given to these patriotic services which have been the occasion of many fine letters of commendation coming from various government agencies in the city, who have been most profuse in their expression of appreciation for the wonderful spirit in which the Sisters in the schools have accepted the various responsibilities and how graciously they have given extra hours to the training of many young girls who have made the work of these various agencies for the benefit of our country and the success of our war program a little easier for those in charge of them.

"For all these things I take this opportunity on the feast day of your great patron, Saint Joseph, to thank you and to pray God's blessing upon the work as it continues and to assure the Sisters engaged in the work of our schools that, devoted as I am to the children of the diocese, and to their future service in this Catholic community, that I never forget in my prayers the Sisters working in the classrooms, and I am thoroughly conscious that it is in the simple day by day consistent routine of your lives in the Catholic Schools, academy and college that we are building up the fabric of the faith in this diocese for the years to come.

"May God bless you and may your great patron, St. Joseph, preserve and guide you in the very serious years of service which, may I say, it is not only your responsibility to shoulder, but also because it is God's vocation, your privilege to shoulder."

Many Chaplains Serve French Revolt Groups

BURKEL, Switzerland.—Many priests are serving as chaplains with the French revolt units in the Haute Savoie Mountains, where fighting is reported now to be in progress, according to dispatches published in Geneva newspapers.

The Swiss newspaper Morgenblatt publishes a dispatch from a correspondent in France in the form of an interview with a French worker who asserted with a labor battalion when he learned he was to be sent into Germany. He had been promised, he said, that he would be permitted to remain in France.

"There are thousands of us," the worker is quoted as saying. "All that we can do is to die and we are prepared to undergo many hardships if only we can reach North Africa."

The correspondent reports that France is in a state of great excitement. "I heard departing workers singing the Marseillaise and the Internationale," he reports. "I also heard clergymen in the anxious words encouraging those who were departing and saying: 'Patience, boys, you'll not have to stay long.' The workers shouted Vive DeGaulle and Vive Churchill!"

Desire Is Science

The desire of heavenly glory is the science of the soul in her pilgrimage; and in death it renders sweet a sacrifice which otherwise is most bitter to endure.

Gasoline Rationed; Mission Opened

GARDNETTVILLE, O.—Commenced by the rationing of gas and gasoline, a new mission church has been established here in care for parishioners who are unable to journey to St. Edward's Church in Parkman, Pa. Mass.

The mission was opened Sunday by the Rev. John Hyatt, pastor of Parkman, for the benefit of the location. Father Hyatt's only trip here will save the parishioners the long drive to Parkman, a distance of seven miles. The mission, which will continue for the duration of the war, has been established at the town hall here, where Mass is said at 7:30 A. M. on Sundays. A priest from Mount Union High School in Cleveland will assist Father Hyatt with the mission.

on fire until they reached the street. Most of them succeeded in rescuing coats and street apparel but water soaked school books and equipment were not removed until after the fire was extinguished. Despite the fire which badly damaged the upper portion of one of the two buildings, De Sales High School, opened for classes at the usual time on Wednesday morning. Arrangements were made to hold all classes in the new building adjoining the damaged structure and school was held as usual. Father Nolan praised the Sisters of the staff who, he said, had worked hard to perfect arrangements so that no time would be lost from classes. City School Superintendent, Y. M. C. A. officials and others offered space in their buildings to house the students for the remainder of the scholastic year. The Rev. John M. Duffy, Superintendent of Catholic Schools, Diocese of Rochester on the scene and the Rev. William McPadden, pastor of St. Stephen's Church with Father Nolan inspected the fire-ravaged building and immediately were convinced of the impossibility of repairing at this time. Also at the fire were the Rev. John E. Randall, managing editor, CATHOLIC COURIER, and the Rev. John P. Murphy, C.R.R., director of the Diocesan District House on Seneca Lake.
