Christ-Like World of Future To Be Theme of Summer Action Schools

ST. LOUIS.—The topical theme of the forthcoming Summer Schools of Catholic Action, to be held in five centers, will be: "Our personal part in the Christ-like world of the future, a world marked by the practice of the social spirit . . . a genuine human and fraternal Christian unity." It is announced by the Queen's Work here, national Sodality secretariat, the sponsoring organization.

The announcement stressed that this year's program, regarded as the most important in the 13 years of the institution, because of world conditions, would be "intensely fundamental," with objectives being the presentation of the basic ideals laid down by Christ and declared by the Popes, on which "a decent world can be built after victory; the working out of a program by which you individually can help rebuild the world in your immediate neighborhood, in the district, province, in the people and in the nation."

Diocesan Newspaper Enters 100th Year

PITTSBURGH.—The Pittsburgh Catholic, official organ of the Diocese of Pittsburgh, has started upon its 100th year of continuous publication and will celebrate its centenary on May 10, 1943.

Do you remember when . .

. . . Beer came back! Remember the crowds waiting in line . . . remember the thrill of that first glass . . . the cool goodness, the white lacy collar, the delicious flavor. It was like meeting an old friend again . . . a friend you'd missed for many years!

That was back in '33 . . . and from that first day on, Genesee has been the overwhelming favorite with folks 'round here! When you taste it you know why!

. . . You heard "Now, At Long Last . . ." the love story that thrilled the world. A famous Englishman had married a Baltimore Gal . . . recordings were made of it . . . and they even had it printed on women's sarves!

10 years have passed . . . and Genesee still continues to win friends! It's so smooth and mellow and light . . . and it rolls across your tastes like a breath of spring.

Every year since '33 . . . we at Genesee have conscientiously tried to improve each succeeding brew. And today we present what we believe is the finest of them all . . . Genesee Anniversary Lager.
