Fr. Feeney, Jesuit Author, To Conclude Culture Series With 'Happiness' Lecture

In any age, in any war-torn or not, there is a formula for inner peace that any man of reason can secure. In today's world of war there are precious things surging in spite of the conflict.

Father Feeney sees martyrdom and mysticism in our modern times as well as in past centuries. "The War" and "Our Faith" when related to each other make the Christians see more clearly the values and beliefs which have produced happiness in living since the time of Christ.

By being to be one of the outstanding Catholic poets of our day. The decidedly "popular" type of lecturer, Father Feeney has been described as master of wit, humor, and sarcasm.
