Behind The Doctor

By O. G. LITTLE, Sc.D.,
Managing Director of the American Society for the Control of Cancer

In any Democracy the forces that stand behind the doctor are quite as important as the training and ability of the doctor himself. Among the public health movements in the United States no group has recognized this basic principle more promptly or more completely than the American Society for the Control of Cancer in conducting its nation-wide educational campaign against that disease.

In 1936 the Society organized as a practical working unit of lay people what it called the Women's Field Army Against Cancer. From the very outset it was specified that this group of lay workers in the educational field should be guided by governing bodies, and the majority of whose members should be medical men or women. The Society and the Field Army thus definitely committed itself to a policy of standing back of the doctor in the fight against cancer.

The wisdom of this attitude has been amply proven. Today doctors all over the United States report a constantly increasing flow of early cancer cases to their offices for diagnosis and treatment. Since the prospect of cure of cancer is directly related to the observation and treatment of the disease in its early stages, this evidence of practical value of the Women's Field Army work has convinced the medical organizations of counties and states through the union that real progress can be made in the conquest of the disease. The mutual benefits to both the patient and the profession have been great. Either group by itself could never be as strong or effective as in close cooperation with the other. Mutual confidence and respect lead to a development of the best qualities of both groups. This sort of progress will count heavily in determining the progressive advance against this disease in the years to come. We are on our way toward cancer control and both the doctor and the prospective patient can face the future certain that

Doctor's Degree Awarded To Mme. Chiang Kai-Shek

LOS ANGELES (NC)—The Catholic Church and the Jesuit Fathers are "particularly dear to me," Madame Chiang Kai-Shek, wife of China's generalissimo, asserted here Saturday night when an honorary doctor's degree was conferred upon her on behalf of Loyola University, here, by the Very Rev. Edward J. Whelan, S.J., university president.

The award took place in Madam Chiang's hotel suite as the closing incident in her visit to California. A short time later, she departed by special train, which will arrive in New York Wednesday and there she will go into seclusion for a few days before her visit to Ottawa next month, when she will address the Canadian Parliament.

Among those who attended the presentation of the degree were the Most Rev. John J. Cantwell, Archbishop of Los Angeles; his sister, Mrs. Nellie Cantwell; the Rev. John F. Conolly, S.J., dean of faculties at the university; the Rev. Joseph J. Donovan, S.J., rector of the School of Law, and Joseph Scott, member of the Board of Regents.

The award was the first degree Madame Chiang personally received during her visit to the United States. Upon receiving the degree, Madame Chiang said: "I feel greatly honored in receiving this degree from Loyola University and more deeply in that it was that the Jesuits who wrote against the tyrants of Europe. The Jesuits may be said to be the torchbearers of freedom and the forerunners of democracy. When I think of how much the Jesuits have contributed to the advancement of human knowledge and the service they have rendered to mankind, it makes me feel the more determined to prove worthy of the trust you have reposed in me. You know that Catholics are particularly dear to me for a Sha of the Imperial dynasty, a torchbearer of mine, was a convert to the Catholic Church and studied under the Jesuits."

Protest Bill
Letters have been sent in the name of the Rochester Diocesan Council of the N. C. C. W. protesting the passage of the Equal Rights Amendment Bill to the Chairman of the House and Senate Judiciary Committee, the Hon. Hutton W. Summers, and the Hon. Frederick VanNuys, to our New York representatives on the House Committee, the Hon. Emanuel Celler, Hon. William T. Byrne and the Hon. Clarence E. Hancock, as well as to our New York State Senators and Representatives, the Hon. James J. Wedgworth, the Hon. Joseph J. O'Brien and the Hon. Robert Wagner and the Hon. James Meade.

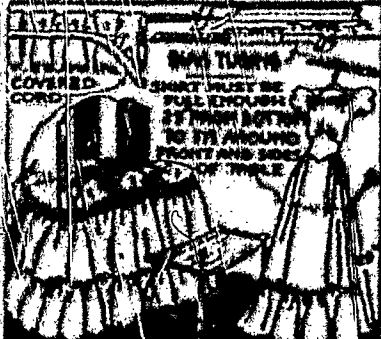

We again invite our affiliated organizations and members to join in sending protests to their representatives in Congress. There is GRAVE DANGER that in the present confusion of wartime legislation this measure may be set upon favorably; therefore an IMMEDIATE and continuing campaign is essential.

Because of Good Friday the meeting of the Rochester Diocesan Council is postponed to Friday, Apr. 30.

Dressing Table Wears Party Frock

Have you an old party frock hanging in the closet going out of style? Many a dress that is not fresh enough to wear has yards of good material in the skirt. And the skirt of many an old party frock would be most fetching on your dressing table. Tulle, crisp cottons, double layers of net and frills are all appropriate. Frequently trimmings of flowers or ribbon may be used with good effect too. The dress skirt must be full at the top or it will not fit around the table and soft clinging materials are not suitable. Here, a pleated-fuching will covered cord from strips of the dress material finishes the top.
