

Urge Just Punishment For Those Guilty Of International Crimes

WASHINGTON (NC)—Punishment which are best calculated to discourage and deter the repetition of their offenses should be imposed upon those States and individuals that have committed international crimes, the Ethics Committee of the Catholic Association for International Peace declared in a statement issued here. The statement was titled "Retributive Justice After the War."

Extreme penalties, the statement says, should be imposed upon the leading criminals in Germany, Italy and Japan. "For the minor criminals," it adds, "imprisonment, banishment and other military punishments would probably be sufficient to safeguard the international common good."

Enactment of Common Good— "Inasmuch as all punishment necessarily contributes toward repair of the violated moral order, retribution may be regarded as one end of civil punishment," the statement says. "But it is only an implicit end. The explicit, primary and essential end is the promotion of the common good. Inasmuch as the correction of the delinquent can safeguard the common good, it too may be regarded as a secondary and incidental end."

"The foregoing principles concerning the penal functions of the State in relation to its own members are completely applicable to whatever international organizations possess jurisdictional power over its constituent States. The international authority has the right to punish for the common good of the nations and peoples of the world. Upon those States and individuals that have committed international crimes should be imposed those penalties which are best calculated to discourage and deter the repetition of such offenses. At the close of World War II, the Axis Nations should receive such punishment as seems best adapted to prevent any new assaults by any nation upon world peace and civilization."

"It can be objected that when the war ends, no international judicial organization will have come into existence, yet the international criminals ought to be punished promptly. If trial, sentence and punishment do not come within a reasonable time, the judicial process will lose much of its efficacy. Indeed, the process may be deferred for such long period that the imposition of adequate penalties will have become impracticable."

"The objection is invalid: for the most important States could be ready with, at least, the skeleton of an effective international organization as soon as the fighting has ceased. At any rate, the United Nations will be in existence with ample physical power and moral authority to punish. To deny them the moral right to chastise

Japs Slaying of Flyers Seen Result of Discarding Morals

WASHINGTON (NC)—The ways of horror and hatred following in the wake of the announcement of the execution of the American flyers in substance but it is quite evident that the barbaric act will not soon be forgotten by official Washington. It has brought home to

STUDENTS HEAR LORD HALIFAX

The Most Reverend has departed from government in many countries where before it seemed secure, declared Lord Halifax, British Ambassador to the United States, when he addressed the School of Law of Catholic University of America recently. He is pictured in this occasion with Floyd P. Sullivan (left), Frater of Law School Student Council, and Dr. Brendan P. Brown, head of the Law School.

Education Developing Character Lauded By Lord Halifax At C. U.

WASHINGTON (NC)—Discussing "Democracy as Related to the Present and Future World Order" Lord Halifax, the British Ambassador to the United States, in addressing the April social meeting of the School of Law of the Catholic University of America, stressed the idea of democracy to the Greek and the destruction of free government in the Near East.

Following the ambassador's talk, a reception was held with the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Patrick J. McChesney, Acting Rector of the University, and the faculty of the Law School joining the distinguished guest in the receiving line.

Declaring that the Near East has distinguished the democratic form of government in many countries where before it seemed quite secure, Lord Halifax said:

"If democracy is to work, there must be in all constitutions a great sense of shared responsibility. The whole thing rests on a balanced compromise. You cannot push either the states of the State as far as to repress the freedom of the individual, nor can you allow individual freedom to lead you into chaos. However, the ultimate purpose of the whole affair is the development of individual personality and for that use of the principal instruments which democracy most always use is education — education not in the sense of indoctrinating always to do things which are good with it to pass examinations or to be living models, but first and foremost and last, education which will thoroughly equip men and women with some working knowledge of their relationship to the world of mystery in which they live, and education which will develop that thing which may be called character. Character is not acquired by indoctrination."

DESMOND MCCARTY TO SPEAK AT MILITARY MASS AT UNKNOWN SOLDIER TOMB

WASHINGTON (NC)—The Hon. Rev. William T. McCarty, C.M.S., Military Delegate, will preside and deliver the sermon at the 15th annual Unknown Soldier Memorial Mass at the Tomb of the Unknown Soldier in Arlington National Cemetery on Sunday, May 23. The ceremony is being arranged by the Knights of Columbus and the National Capital Committee of Catholic Societies.

Following the Mass more than 20 national and local societies will gather at the tomb and place wreaths there in tribute. The wreaths will be blessed by Bishop McCarty.

At the same ceremony a plaque will be presented by the Catholic Central Veterans of America and the National Catholic Women's Union. The presentation will be made by the National presidents of the two organizations, William H. Malen and Mrs. Mary F. Lohr. The trophy room already contains plaques presented by the U. S. C. and the Catholic War Veterans.

Ex-Boys Towner Cited

Boys Town, Neb.—The Silver Star Medal and a citation for bravery have been won by Wesley Burton Haggard, who was at Boys Town from 1936 to 1937, for extraordinary services in the Guadalcanal area, according to word received here. He is a platoon leader, first class, in the Navy. He has a wife, employed at the Marine Base, Quantico, Va., and a baby daughter, whom he never saw.

making the world the realization that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

That is not the only way to win, but it is the only way to win that is worth winning. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles. The statement says that the present war is a fight against the forces of evil, and that the only way to win is by the force of right and moral principles.

the Axis countries is to ensure that the present international crimes would be unwhipped of justice, regardless of the passing of time to international order and peace. As noted above, R. Augustus stressed punishment of the guilty nation as a just object of war. That war is not only justifiable as an act of self defense, but it may be useful for the punishment of injustice. . . . (Mark-Francis, Moral Theology, V, 111). If a single State may thus punish justice, a treaty, several States acting collectively may in the same for the protection of international order.

D. C. Board Considers Dosing Sex Education

WASHINGTON (NC)—A proposal to remove sex instruction from a physical education course in District of Columbia public high schools for junior students is under consideration here by the Board of Education.

Dr. James A. Conner, physician member of the board, urged the removal on the ground that sex education rightly belongs in the home and not in the classroom. He advocated the entire unit on "human reproduction" be eliminated from the course before the senior students get a chance to begin their studies at it next month.

The board instructed Assistant Schools Superintendent Robert L. Hayes to review the proposed sex instruction and to report to the board on May 5. Opposition to removing the sex instruction was voiced by Mr. P. C. Klett, president of the Congress of Parents and Teachers and by Ray Everett, executive director of the Social Hygiene Society.

Chaplain Woloch Now At Newport

AUBURN — Chaplain John P. Woloch, U. S. Navy, is at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I. He was formerly stationed at Pearl Harbor and was at Midway when things were hottest. He left Midway Island on June 11, 1942, by seaplane tender, stopping enroute to pick up some American flyers from Guadalcanal. The ship made the run in 6 1/2 days, zig-zagging by day and running a straight course at night. Chaplain Woloch recently spent a fortnight in Auburn. Father Woloch is a priest of the Rochester Diocese.

Small Fire

Even so the village is indeed a little member and boasts great things. Behold how small a fire kindleth a great wood. James, 3, 7.

Soldiers Hail Fr. Bolger For Work With Regiment

CAMP LIVINGSTON, La.—"Grateful beyond expression for the splendid work and endless efforts." This is how the 152 Infantry Regiment, here, feels about the Rev. William J. Bolger, Priest from Rochester Diocese and Catholic Chaplain.

Father Bolger was assigned to the 152 Infantry in Nov., 1942, as the first Catholic Chaplain in the Regiment's history. Since that time he has won the friendship and admiration of every man in it. Each Sunday, at Doby Mass, an special services there is a continuous increase of attendance with many non-Catholics present.

First Communion— Sunday, Apr. 8, was one of the most beautiful and impressive celebrations of the Mass imaginable when seven soldiers went to the altar to receive their First Holy Communion. As a result of special instructions and previous preparation by Father Bolger working with the soldiers after duty hours and night classes over a period of several weeks, they were prepared to receive the Sacrament of Holy Communion and Holy Communion. Because of the influence exerted by the zeal of these seven soldiers, it is stated here, and the indelible impression of the services that Sunday on the whole organization, it is expected beyond any doubt, there will be many more to follow.

To celebrate the occasion, Father Bolger, his altar boys, Lt. Eugene Karling of the 152 Inf. Reg., Lt. James Davis of the 152 Inf. Reg. and the seven converts enjoyed a steak dinner at the Doby Hotel in Alexandria, La. An enjoyable afternoon, one long to be remembered, was spent there. At the camp here, "everybody heartily thanks God for having such a wonderful priest as Father Bolger to direct the Catholic Activities for the Regiment. Such enter can well be proud of the work he has only begun to do."

1000 PUBLISHED EVERY WEEK 1000
For More Than 20 Years

Catholic Courier
Official Organ of the Catholic Church
With the Approbation of the MOST REV. JAMES E. KIRKSEY, B. S.
Bishop of Rochester

VOL. XV — APRIL 25, 1943 — NO. 13

Member Catholic Press Association of the United States
Subscriber to R.C.C. Good Service,
(Washington, D. C.)

BY REV. MGR. W. M. GARY, V.G.
Editor-in-Chief

REV. JOHN A. RANDALL, Managing Editor
THOMAS H. O'CONNOR, News Editor
HAROLD H. CONNOR, Advertising Manager

Entered as second-class matter in the Postoffice at Rochester, N. Y., as required under the Act of Congress of March 3, 1879.

Subscription, $2.00 per year in advance, postpaid
(6 months $1.15). Single Copies 5 cents.
(No prepaid orders.) Foreign $3.00 per year.
OFFICE: 200 South Broadway, Rochester, N. Y.
Write to the publisher for this effect, with post office address and no. of the subscription, and the subscribers will be held responsible for all address and to their expiration date of their subscription. This is to record with Post Office is incorporated by the Supreme Court of the United States.

Published by
CATHOLIC COURIER and JOURNAL, Inc.
Main Building Office
200 South Broadway, Rochester, N. Y.
Office: 200 South Broadway, Rochester, N. Y.
ELMIRA, N. Y.
200 South Broadway
Cat. Lists and Post Office No.
AUBURN, N. Y.

1st Class Post. Phone 24157

UNPAID
CATHOLIC COURIER
CATHOLIC JOURNAL