Others Sworn Pay

A young man employed in an office along with some 300 other clerks was quizzed as to how he was apparently able to live so far beyond his $80 salary. "That's easy," he explained. "Every Saturday morning I sell chances to all the other clerks for a dollar a chance. Then we hold a drawing to see which one of them gets my pay check."

Adequate information can silence most of the criticisms of the Church.

SOCIETY HONORS MOTHERS

GENEVA.—Mother's Day was particularly observed by the Parish Society of St. Francis de Sales parish on Sunday. Our hostess and three members of the organization attended the 1 o'clock Mass at St. Francis de Sales Church and received Holy Communion. Later they went to the Hotel Geneva for a breakfast and program in honor of the occasion.

Mrs. W. C. Hoffmann, president of the Society presided at the breakfast and introduced the toastmistress, Mrs. Stephen Ayers. Rev. Joseph J. Sullivan, of the Pro-Cathedral in Rochester, and assistant for a brief period at St. Francis de Sales parish in Geneva, was guest speaker.

Descriptive present words outlined the effect of the war on mothers. Father Sullivan said that although there are many great children mothers, whose boys have been lost in the war, there will come for them "a Mother's Day" not as Mother's Day for the blessed Mother of God.

There will come a Mother's Day for all later, after the cease and the sorrow of a world at war," Father Sullivan remarked.

Mrs. Thomas A. Kane delivered the toast to the daughters and Mrs. Marie O'Malley replied with the toast to the mothers.

Rev. Valentine Jankowiak, assistant at St. Francis de Sales parish and spiritual director of the Rosary Society, spoke briefly, his remarks being appropriate to the celebration of Mother's Day. He praised the members for their fine spirit of cooperation in the work of the parish and congratulated them on their Mother's Day program. He also called attention to the presence of several young Rosarians at the breakfast and said that he was happy to see them at the breakfast with their mothers.
