Agencies Assured Of Meeting Budgets As Chest Drive Succeeds

Rolling up a grand total of $2,104,331.44, workers in the 1934 Community and War Chest campaign went over the top by $92,244 to assure all participating home agencies and war relief work groups of meeting their budgets in the coming year.

Catholics of the city sharing in the victory, shared also in the extensive effort put forth to make the campaign successful.

Chest President Bernard E. Finnane at the victory dinner, Monday night, in the Chamber of Commerce, said: "I know that all Rochester joins me in expressing the gratitude of the Chest to helpers in all divisions for the splendid job they have done in overcoming bad weather and general rationing during the week of the campaign."

Falling Together

"You have proved again that when a group of determined Rochesterians unite to see a project through, they can accomplish the impossible; given a reasonable amount of time, they can achieve a miracle. They have received, of course, the earnest and effective cooperation of industrial, commercial and utility firms and of public officials, and for that cooperation we are deeply grateful."

Representing His Excellency, Bishop Kearney at the final reporting meeting was the Rt. Rev. Major William M. Hart, V.C. Both these leaders of the Catholic faith joined personally in stimulating generous giving in the campaign. Besides the home agencies, Rochester Catholic Churches, St. Ann's Home for the Aged, St. Joseph's Villa, St. Elizabeth's Guild House, Charles Settlement House, Bohemian Institute Settlement and St. Mary's Hospital, the National Catholic Community Service shares with the other agencies in the Chest campaign victory.
