17 Africa Bound Missioners Now In Nazi European Prison Camp

NEW YORK.—(NC)—The 17 American missionaries, who were bound for the vicariate of Haute-land and were taken prisoners from the Egyptian ship Zam Zam two years ago when the vessel was sunk in the North Atlantic, now are in concentration camps in Germany, Austria and Czechoslovakia. It was announced here at headquarters of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith.

On the ill-fated ship also was a cargo of mission supplies valued at $25,000, which was destined for the vicariate in Africa.

A letter from one of the interned missionaries, the Rev. Paul Jussan, O.M.I., stated: "Our arrival has changed the whole outlook of the place and God is with us in our work." Another of the missionaries, the Rev. Gerard Boulanger, O.M.I., who is listed as "Prisoner 102474 in Camp XXIA," wrote that while the poverty of their Christmas served as tangible reminders of the blessed night 18 centuries ago in Bethlehem, "the beauty of our religion seemed to shine with renewed splendor and God continues to work with us."

WOMEN SELL TYPEWRITERS TO PAY 'FARE' ON LONG, DANGEROUS CHINA JOURNEY

MARYKNOLL, N. Y.—Three typewriters sold by Maryknoll Sister missionaries along the road from Hong Kong to the interior of China, provided "fare" for their long and dangerous trip.

Upon arrival at Kweilin Maryknoll Mission, the Superior Sister Mary Paul McKeena, formerly of Reading, Pa., under date of May 2, wrote a letter just received here. It reads:

"As you know, eleven of our original 26 Hong Kong Sisters were in the final escape group. Of these eleven, four went to the Island of Macao, while the rest of us, traveled through to the interior of China.

"The Sisters seem to be in good health, thank God, despite a very hard trip. We traveled by chair for the first six days, and then by bus, for many more days. This latter part of the trip required just double the ordinary time, due to the constant breaking down of the bus. We feared greatly that we would have to spend the nights on the road, but as it transpired we took the alternative of stopping at China's worst hotels. (Perhaps the road would have been better after all!) Incidentally, we paid our travel expenses from Hong Kong to Kweilin with the proceeds of three typewriters which we sold en route.

"We owe a debt of gratitude which we can never repay to a Chinese friend in Hong Kong. She proved a wonderful help during our last month there, aiding us in money exchange and with information that only the Chinese were able to get. After the bombing by our planes in October, she supplied us almost daily with food.

"Please have the Sisters pray very earnestly that peace may come soon, for although we understand to some extent the horrors of war, the effects of it on the lives of thousands, then families are separated and living makeshift, are far worse than I ever imagined."
