Editorial in Yonkers Paper Hits Birth Curb

YONKERS, (N.Y.)—An editorial in the Herald Statesman, a senior newspaper of this city, denouncing the "No Children Allowed" rule of apartments and small houses for lease, concluded with a denunciation on birth control.

The editorial pointed out that the widow and her son, "Corky" of Capt. Colin Kelly, World War II air hero, were barred from apartments and small houses in Los Angeles by the "No Children Allowed" rule when they moved there after obtaining citizenship. The Kellys at length found quarters when a relief worker, transferred to another city, allowed them to take her small home.

The editorial states that "a people which deliberately set of economic selfishness and physical softness, depresses its own birth rate can not long hope to remain a vigorous and dominant people." Attacking the "No Children Allowed" rule and birth control, the editorial said:

"All arguments to the contrary, notwithstanding, God didn't make any man and woman to marry and live all their days in a two-room apartment, lavishing their affection on a dog or a cat and spending their money on an eight-cylinder, but single-seat automobile. If God gives victory to America in this war, He will extend the right to expect us to extend and sustain His moral civilization and to that end we shall need a sturdy family strength."

Honor War Slain
