Opens Drive For French Catholic Daily Newspaper

QUEBEC.—Opening a Quebec-wide campaign of "Aid to Acadia," the Most Rev. Norbert Robichaud, Archbishop of Montreal and Bishop of Acadia, declared the campaign was to obtain financial aid towards the establishment of a French Catholic daily newspaper in the land of Evangeline.

Such a newspaper, he felt, was necessary to preserve the ethnic character and national character of the Catholic French Acadians. He thanked the people of Quebec for their assistance to the Acadia and said this was one of the finest gestures of French solidarity ever shown in America. There are 225,000 Acadians in the Maritime Provinces and they are served only by a few weekly newspapers.

The Eminence Rodrigue Cardinal Villeneuve, Archbishop of Quebec, who opened the campaign with a contribution of $1,000, spoke on the great work which is carried on by the Catholic Press. He recalled that Pope Pius X had said that the daily newspaper can form or reform the convictions and views of men. The Church needs a press to serve its eternal principles, he said.

Marks Centenary of First Mass in Brisbane

BRISBANE, Australia.—(By Telegram)—Congratulations of His Holiness Pope Pius XII were conveyed by His Excellency the Most Rev. Giovanni Panico, Apostolic Delegate to Australia, on the occasion of the centenary observance of the celebration of the first Mass in Brisbane, when it was an obscure convict settlement.

Although the celebration was curtailed because of war conditions, the Most Rev. James Tuohy, Archbishop of Brisbane, pontificated at Mass in the Cathedral of St. Stephen for war workers, who had participated in nocturnal adoration. There were numerous United Nations servicemen in the congregation.

WRITE TO THOSE IN SERVICE

The Bishop made it clear that he was not only speaking for his own boys and girls but for all throughout the state who have been working this year, not alone to get their scholastic work, but to cooperate wholeheartedly in the war effort. His Excellency cited the outstanding achievements of schools like Aquinas Institute in the War Bond and Stamp campaigns, in salvage drives, in the Victory Corps and other effort cooperating with the government in prosecuting the war.

Those who prepared this year's set of Regents examinations must have been so buried in scientific and other studies that they did not realize the country was at war, the Bishop continued.

Complaints have been made from all sections of the state. His Excellency said. The examinations were ridiculous when given at a time like this with class work interfered with more than ever in the history of schools in the state. "One would think that if anything the examinations might have been a little easier this year in view of the service the students were called upon to render."

War Ration III Book Can Only Be Obtained Aug. 1

Applications for War Ration Book III cannot now be made to local War Price and Rationing Boards the Office of Price Administration emphasized today. Not until Aug. 1 will local boards accept such applications from persons who failed to apply by mail before June 10, or from persons who did apply but for some reason, do not receive books.

Since the June 10 deadline for mailing applications passed, the OPA explained, local boards have been flooded with requests to be permitted to apply for War Ration Book No. 3. Local boards will not have application forms available until after Aug. 1. Persons will have sufficient time then to procure the new replacement ration book since the book will not be used until late August or early September.

At the same time, the OPA urged persons who mailed applications but failed to receive War Book No. 3 not to go to their local boards until after Aug. 1. Some persons who have applied for War Book No. 3, the OPA explained, will not receive it because the information on the application card was illegible or because names or addresses were not set forth on the application card.

Persons who receive War Ration Book No. 3, should not take the book to their Local Board to have information filled in on the cover. No board action is necessary, the OPA said. All the holder of a War Ration Book No. 3 is required to do upon receiving his book is to write in his address, age, sex, weight, height, occupation and signature in the spaces provided on the cover. No other information or action is necessary.
