Scores High School Sex Education Program

ST. PAUL.—Denouncing the action of "those responsible for public order and education selling sex education as a panacea for juvenile delinquency," the Rev. Dr. R. G. Bandas, Archbishop and Director of the Catholic Youth Council, outlined a six-point series of objections to the sex education course drawn up by the Minnesota Health Department's division of preventable diseases for junior and senior public high school students.

Dr. Bandas' letter opposed the program on the following grounds:

1. The program is based on the unsound principle that mere information will bring about living.
2. The program leaves out of consideration the training of the will.
3. The program lacks proper motivation.
4. The program is non-ethical.
5. The program is public and collective; it does not take into consideration the individual and relative needs of young people.
6. The program transfers the task of imparting sex instruction from those who by nature or by professional training are commissioned to give it—parents and spiritual directors—to persons of doubtful competency.

However things may seem, no evil thing is success and no good thing is failure.—Longfellow.

Socialists Near Fr. O'Connell

A Communion breakfast in the school hall last Sunday attracted fifty-one members of the Sodality of St. John the Evangelist Church.

The principal speaker on the occasion was the Rev. Joseph O'Connell, chaplain of Nazareth Academy. He stressed the importance of the virtues of obedience, truthfulness and chastity in the life of a Socialist.

Nation's Greatness

When I look back on the progress of history, when I survey the greatness of America, I see this written over every page: That the nations are renewed from the bottom, not from the top. . . . A nation is no great, and only as great, as her rank and file.—Representative Hatten Sumners, of Texas.

Fr. O'Connell's talk was alive with anecdotes and apt illustrations.

The group was also addressed briefly by the pastor, the Rev. John E. Sullivan, and the moderator, the Rev. John J. Leahy.

The following recently elected officers were installed: Prefect, Catherine Clark succeeding Fern Smith; Vice-Prefect, Fern Smith succeeding Edna Haiselwanger; Secretary, Jean McLaughlin succeeding Helen Uebel; and treasurer, Jack Rickard succeeding Elynora Verburg.

Patricia Mallory was in charge of arrangements assisted by Catherine Hines, Mary Jane Merrill, Melba Servas, Frances Grant, and Alice Marie Hanes.
