Nation-Wide Stamp Drive For Service School

WASHINGTON—With the nation-wide campaign of Catholic women to advance the training of Catholic social workers opening this week, and having as its goal the purchase of a million 23-cent War Stamps for the purpose of expanding the facilities of the National Catholic School of Social Service here, it was announced that 2,200 of the 23-cent stamps already had been received.

The major expectancy of 25,000 War Stamps from the larger dioceses has been accepted by the Ordinaries and leaders of Diocesan Councils of Catholic Women in a number of large dioceses, it was announced. Brooklyn is the first of the dioceses to meet its quota with a bulk contribution of 25,000 War Stamps.

At a pre-campaign luncheon held at the Social Service School, the Rt. Rev. Mgr. Michael J. Brady, President of the Board of Trustees of the School said a Catholic school of social work, independent financially and geared to meet the needs here and abroad for workers expressing in action the ideals of Christian democracy, would be the concrete accomplishment of a successful Stamp campaign.

With the active aid of all Diocesan Councils of the National Council of Catholic Women, which sponsors the Social Service School, a National Executive Committee was formed to be responsible for the general conduct of the Stamp campaign. Bishop Noll is Honorary Chairman of the campaign and the Most Rev. Excmo. M. Walsh, Bishop of Charleston and Assistant Episcopal Chairman of the N.C.W.C. Department of Lay Organizations is Honorary Vice-Chairman.

The nation-wide War Stamp Campaign for the National Catholic School of Social Service is getting under way in our diocese.

Stamp books have been received by our Deanery Presidents.

The high honor of being the first contributor to our local diocesan effort goes to Miss Blanche Thompson.

WHAT THE WAR STAMP DRIVE MEANS TO SCHOOL

The National Catholic School of Social Service, now 12 years old, has labored under one outstanding handicap—that of inadequate finances. During this period the School has been in actual need. The annual income for maintenance having been uncertain.

Despite this difficulty the School has provided an extremely commendable educational program. The large number of capable young women whom the School has graduated to positions in the broad field of social work testifies very definitely to the effectiveness of the training which they have received. Nevertheless, the N. C. S. S., representing approximately 5,000,000 Catholic women, dare not continue on a hit or miss financial basis. The present challenge is too great.

At this moment, in the United States alone, there are about 40,000 jobs for trained social workers. As the war progresses more and more places in foreign countries will require American-trained social workers. After the war the rehabilitation program in France, Italy, Greece, Belgium, Spain, the Philippines, and in the Orient will demand many additional workers, particularly those who have foreign backgrounds and speak the language of the country. To even attempt to meet this tremendous present and future need it is our duty to prepare Catholic workers who will know thoroughly the Catholic philosophy and ethics in addition to being technically skilled in social work. Other denominations have already begun to place their representatives in rehabilitation activities. We Catholics in the United States must not be remiss in providing our own nationally-trained workers for the physical and social and spiritual rehabilitation of our foreign brethren.

Because the School is a national institution it is expected to carry primary responsibility in training workers for domestic and foreign service during the next 10 years. Our School without the backing of unified financial support can enable the Church to exert a tremendous influence, spiritually, morally and materially, in the field of social service here and in the general program of reconstruction abroad.

A successful drive is important right now. By a successful drive we mean one that will completely eliminate any financial inadequacy in the School's work.

This is the exact financial condition of the School:

The School has a mortgage of $120,000. The present interest on the mortgage is $8,000 a year. During 22 years the School has paid over $143,000 in interest.

In addition to the mortgage the School has loans of $12,000 with interest ranging from 3 to 4 per cent.

Beyond the amount secured from student fees the School also needs between $10,000 and $12,000 per year to balance its budget.

What might have been the strength of the School's educational program over the past 22 years if $143,000 had been given to education instead of interest? What will be the strength in the future if $20,000 per year will be spent on Catholic education for social service instead of being paid as interest?

A million 23-cent war stamps will approximate $230,000. This amount will be transferred into war bonds. Part of the bonds will pay off the mortgage. Another part of the bonds will be used to pay off the loans. The remaining amount shall be used to supply the extraordinary funds required for school maintenance each year. Consequently the surplus after the mortgage and loans are paid—would allow the School to operate adequately for a considerable number of years.

This drive means that between July 1 and Aug. 15 the Catholic women of America have the chance to rid themselves of a 22-year-old financial problem. There will be no annual maintenance collections for a period of years. Moreover, a successful drive will mean that the lay Catholic women of America have been able to complete a most outstanding project in the field of graduate education for social service. If the drive is successful, the School will stand for years to come as a monument to the sense of responsibility, the efficiency, and the patriotism of the lay Catholic women of America.

THE KEY TO SUCCESS

Asks. The Givers are constantly present. Almost anyone who is approached will contribute at least one 23-cent war stamp. What is really needed is Asks. This drive will be successful if each Catholic woman gives a stamp and gets a stamp from someone else. Don't leave this to another woman to do. Do it yourself! And encourage every other Catholic woman to do the same.

The newspapers are filled with accounts of successful bond and stamp drives conducted by other groups. Simply as a matter of pride the Catholic women must and will succeed. With all who know the power of our Catholic women, I believe they will exceed the expectations to a degree that is going to startle anyone in the United States who may have questioned the ability of the lay Catholic women to perform an outstanding service for their Church, for their country and for their fellowmen.

Make A Chair Frame and Cover It

There is no reason that you should do without smart looking upholstered chairs while you are awaiting the day that you will have the living room furniture that you have always dreamed about. Scrape off lumber and plywood or even old packing boxes may be used to make simple chair frames and there are no priorities on cotton padding and sturdy cotton covering materials.

A simple frame for a chair of this type is shown here. It is padded with cotton basting basted to pieces of unbleached muslin cut to fit the back and well over the sides of the seat. A separate cushion filled with cotton down or feathers is then made for the seat. Either plain or figured material with contrasting seam stitching may be used for covering.

NOTE: Mrs. Spears has prepared detailed dimensions and directions for making this chair frame. Pattern also gives step-by-step directions for covering the frame after it has been padded. Ask for Pattern 239 and enclose the plus 2c to cover cost and mailing.
