War Bond, Stamp Sale By Catholic Crusaders Reaches New High

The grand total of $1204.52 at Loew's Rochester and of $5524.80 at Woolworth's store was realized in the Third War Loan sale of U. S. War Bonds and stamps by the Catholic Crusaders, a group of Catholic young women serving under the chairmanship of Mrs. George A. Conway.

The Crusaders at four rallies had the cooperation of 50 girls and the Red Cross Motor Corps in building up the extensive sales at the theater and the store.

From Aug. 2 to Aug. 28, the Catholic Crusaders tallied a sale of $2,039.05 at the Woolworth store and $1,665.00 in Loew's Rochester lobby.

During the period from June 28 to July 31, the sale by the Crusaders at Loew's was $7,124.45 and at Woolworth's $2,843.70.

This voluntary effort on the part of the Crusaders has brought them high commendation from officials in charge of the War Bond and Stamp campaigns.
