

Save Moral Law To Save World, Avers Msgr. Sheen Opening Culture Series

Declaring that Communism and Nazism may again unite in a treaty of peace, the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Fulton J. Sheen of the Catholic University of America, called upon a large audience, at Aquinas Auditorium last Sunday evening, to unite for the preservation of the moral law against the forces of atheism and materialism.

Dr. Armstrong Speaks Monday at Catholic Women's Club Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of the Catholic Women's Club will be held Monday, Oct. 14, at 8 P. M., at the clubhouse, Mrs. Edward L. Zimmer will preside.

Following the business meeting, Dr. John C. Armstrong, Professor of Political Science and History at St. Bonaventure College, will interpret current global events leading up to a discussion of peace aims in his subject "Beyond Victory."

Dr. Armstrong was born in the British West Indies and came to the United States at the age of eighteen years. Working as a newspaper man he went through many experiences in the United States and Canada, gaining two degrees meanwhile, before taking up his present chair at St. Bonaventure where he is understandably one of the most popular members of the faculty.

He has been in demand, consequently, for many types of addresses because of his wide experience and broad contacts. He has addressed bankers' groups, parent-teacher associations, church groups, commencements, educators' conferences including the New York State Association of Academic Principals, and has always been a favorite at service clubs and special banquets because of his rare gift of humor. He has been invited for six years in succession to speak before the Rochester Chamber of Commerce.

Miss Lucille C. Burkhardt, program chairman, will introduce the speaker and the following committee will assist in arrangements: Mrs. Edward L. Zimmer, Mrs. Frank S. Gottry, Mrs. Alexander K. Grava, Miss Helen C. Costello, Miss Ada A. Mang.

Members are invited to hear Dr. Armstrong, who is one of the speakers included in the program activities for the year.

"It is not the church but the world that is in danger in the present crisis," he warned. "Not democracy but preservation of the rule of moral law is what America and her allies are fighting for, because there can be no hope of an internal harmony without moral law."

"This unity, the speaker stated, can be achieved among 'men of good will.' 'The conflict of today,' he continued, 'is not from the supernatural level, but from the animal level. It is the natural law which is dying today. Even the pagans believed in a natural law. Today, the only principle left is the moral law. This is what we are fighting for, not for democracy or anything else. All nations must believe in us.'"

"This is why we fear Russia," explained Monsignor Sheen. "Concerning Russia, there are two aspects, the political and the religious. We fear the religious aspect the most. In the political sphere, the moral law is ignored. Deceits are executed with expediency. 'We find in the world two men who hate each other. They are Stalin and Hitler. But they have a deeper hatred. Even as Pontius Pilate and Herod, they hate Christ more than they hate each other. There is no essential difference between Communism and Nazism. Politically there is still reason to fear Russia. 'From the religious point of view, the moral law is coming back in Russia. Stalin seems to have won from the outside, but he has lost the faith of the people. Stalin recently restored the Holy Synod. This was nothing remarkable, for at its head he placed Sergius who is a fool in Stalin's hands. 'Stalin realizes that there are certain elements in the United States and Britain which are skeptical of Russia and Stalin is evidently trying to appease them.'"

Stating that Russian politics are corrupt, Monsignor Sheen explained that "we must win the Russian people through their souls. We see that the Russian people have risen above the corruption in their midst. There are a great people. 'Russia's day is coming. Through men of good will this day can be hastened. We should send to Russia men and women who live their faith as well as politicians. This is a day of crusade, and we should do our part in reviving Russia.'"

Monsignor Sheen's Sunday evening address was the first of the winter series of Christian Culture Series.

First Anniversary

The first anniversary of the consecration of the world to the Immaculate Heart of Mary by His Holiness Pope Pius XII will be marked on October 31. The consecration occurred on the 25th anniversary of the apparitions of Our Lady of Fatima (above) to three children—shepherds of Portugal, Lucia de Jesus Santos, 10, now a nun of the Community of St. Dorothy; and her cousins Francisco, 7, and Jacinta Marto, 7, who both died a few years after the miracles. Third Order Of St. Francis

There will be a reception of new members at the October meeting of the Third Order of St. Francis which will be held at St. Patrick's Church on Plymouth Ave. North at 3:30 P. M. on Sunday, Oct. 24.

Those who are to be received should arrive at 3:15 P. M. and sit in the front pews. They should also retain the attendance cards sent them to be checked by the Mistress of Novices. Their new names in religion should also appear on the card.

Each Franciscan Tertiary is allowed to choose the name by which he or she shall be known in the Third Order, such as Brother John or Sister Anna St. Francis.

The Tertiary may use his favorite saint's name or a combination of names. There are many famous Franciscans whose names might well be chosen: St. Louis, St. Elizabeth, St. Anthony, St. Clare, St. Leonard, St. Margaret, St. Catherine, St. Bernardine, St. Bonaventure and St. Thomas More, as well as St. Francis himself.

There are more than 120,000 Tertiaries in the United States and there should be more. The Tertiary's apostolate is one of example; his creed is simple. He must keep the Commandments, maintain the spirit of charity, use clean and reverent speech, attend daily Mass if possible, keep peace with all, and work out his soul's salvation by good works and acts of reparation according to his ability. No rule of the Third Order, however, is binding under sin.

The Rev. Leo C. Mooney is Parish Director of the Third Order and the Rev. Bartholomew O'Brien, Spiritual Director. Father Mooney invites all former Tertiaries to rejoin the Order, especially those from parishes where branches have been discontinued or those who have moved here from other cities.

Character Role of Navy Lauded By Fordham Head At Chapel Dedication

NAVAL TRAINING STATION, Sampson, N. Y.—"The United States Navy is not bringing youth of the country to Sampson to crush their personalities into a mould. The Navy today is developing men who will defend their country with rational emotions—men who will govern the world tomorrow by rational use of the ballot and keep it a place where souls can grow as well as bodies."

These were the words of The Rev. Robert J. Gannon, S.J., president of Fordham University, at services Sunday morning dedicating Sampson's Catholic chapel in memory of the late Rt. Rev. Msgr. John Chidwick, D.D., former pastor of St. Agnes' Church, New York. Chaplain Chidwick served as Navy chaplain aboard the USS Maine at the time of its sinking in Havana Harbor in 1898.

More than half the men at Sampson are of the Catholic faith, and Chidwick is the center of Catholic religious activities. It serves as the key pin in the religious and military life of this station.

5 From Diocese To Get Notre Dame Degrees

Five young men from the Rochester Diocese will receive their degrees at the University of Notre Dame at the 100th Commencement, Friday, Oct. 29, at ceremonies modified by the war.

A special feature of this historic commencement will be the reading of a letter from His Holiness, Pope Pius XII, to the University conducted by the Holy Cross Fathers on the occasion of its centenary. Notre Dame was one of the stops of the present Pope when he visited this country as Cardinal Facelli.

Among the graduates announced by the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C.S.C., president, are: Robert Armstrong Nelson, 7 Eastern Parkway, Auburn—Science; William John Schickel, Fairview Manor, Oak Ave., Ithaca—Fine Arts; Morgan Jerome Quinn, Rochester—Commerce; Raymond Stephen Quinn, Rochester—Commerce; Victor Martin Kimmel, 5 St. John's St., Wayland.

The dedicatory service was attended by approximately 1,000 bluejackets, representing all units on the training station. It was a solemn and impressive affair, combining church ritual and Navy tradition. A program of sacred music was rendered by a choir of 100 voices, with Art Jarrett, musician first class, as soloist.

Catholic Here Honored

John Patrick Sylvester Chidwick, for whom the chapel was named, was a hero of the sinking of the Maine. Among the last to leave the stricken ship, he assisted in the rescue of many of the crew. He died in 1935, at that time rector of a New York church.

The chapel was designed under the supervision of Captain William W. Edell, (ChC) USN, Senior Chaplain. It is said to be one of the finest examples of Navy church architecture. The plain exterior is complemented by a simple beauty and dignity of interior, with natural oak pews and
