Facts On Spain Civil War Corroborated In Book By Former Envoy

Many Americans will remember Salvador de Madariaga, former Spanish Ambassador to the United States; later Ambassador to France, permanent delegate to the League of Nations and professor of Spanish studies at Oxford University. While in this country and elsewhere, Senor Madariaga was impressive as a scholar, particularly as a splendid writer and competent historian.

De Madariaga, a member of the Spanish Masons, is possessed of the usual anti-clerical prejudices of the Latin "liberal." He was in Spain during the Civil War and a witness with the fullest claim to be heard.

A book entitled "Spain" by de Madariaga was printed in England earlier in the year and created a considerable stir. It has just been published in this country by Creative Age Press, Inc., 11 East 44th St., Manhattan (price $4.00). It should be in public libraries, in colleges, and in the hands of everyone who had fallen under the spell of "Life," "Time" and other prejudiced publications, together with biased commentators and columnists who have so consistently misrepresented the war in Spain. The author who has little or no use for the Catholic cause and who refers to the Republican leaders as "my old acquaintances of a life-time" sets forth these striking truths on the Civil War:

1.—Largo Caballero, Red prime minister, was set on revolution and was preparing to seize power in 1936. A letter from Stalin to Caballero is printed.

2.—The "Popular Front" was a Communist-dominated bloc of radicals and was not brought about because of the danger of any Fascist rebellion. The author adds there never was and is not now any Fascist peril in Spain.

3.—The left-wing "Popular Front" armed "a number of fiercely rival workers' unions" to create terror and is responsible for the frightful destruction of life and property.

4.—Russia kept the war going once it started. Soviet Russia was the first intervening government.

5.—Alvarez del Vayo and Juan Negrin, war leaders of the "Loyalists" and now in North America, were "Communist agents." Negrin, as last Premier of Spain, fled the country with stolen jewels.

6.—The Spanish Reds and others aided the Soviet in robbing the country of $800,000,000 in gold, thereby bankrupting the country.

7.—There were atrocities on the side of the "rebels" but they did not hold a candle to the massacres carried on by the Spanish Reds or Loyalists, and the pillars of religion and culture now in ruins offer testimony of these infamous crimes.

Lastly, "Spain" reveals this—and how often most of us said it years ago—that the defeat of the Nationalists would have completely subjugated and destroyed the country and made it a Soviet dictatorship.

Bungling Nazis Try To Tie Ages-Old Red Mass With Communism

WASHINGTON.— (NC) —The Nazi propaganda machine bogged down to a new low with an English-language broadcast from Germany to Ireland, in which a ludicrous attempt was made to tie-in the centuries-old Red Mass of the Catholic Church with Soviet Russia, it was revealed by the Office of War Information through a recording of the broadcast by Federal monitors.

Referring to the "celebration of the obscurious red Mass," which it termed the "greatest blasphemy in the history of Italy," and a "great political farce," the broadcast sought to make it appear that Communism had gained a strong hold in Southern Italy, now in Allied hands. It said the Mass was celebrated in the "very popular Church of Madonna Del Carmine" in Naples by Capuchin monks.

Before Marxian Communism ever was thought of, the Red Mass was originated centuries ago — in the thirteenth century in France. Later it spread to England and more recently to this country.

The Red Mass in this country and in England has become associated with the opening of the court term. It derived its name from the vestments worn at the Mass and from the scarlet robes which jurists customarily wore to the ceremony. The traditional Red Mass is in honor of the Holy Ghost. Red vestments are worn at all Masses of the Holy Ghost and on the feast days of Apostles and Martyrs.

Noted Physician At 60 Joins Benedictine Fathers

DUBLIN.—At the age of 50, Dr. J. C. Flood, one of Dublin's foremost medical experts, has retired from a brilliant professional career to join the Benedictine Fathers at their famous Downside Abbey, England.

Prior to the 1914-18 War, Dr. Flood was studying in a seminary in France, an aspirant to the priesthood. The war interrupted his studies and he became an officer of the French Army. The end of hostilities found him occupying the important position of Secretary to Marshal Petain.

Subsequently returning to Dublin he studied law and was called to the Bar. This he followed up by the study of medicine at University College, Dublin.

Ready Made Monks Cloth DRAPERIES

7.98

There's a good reason why so many homemakers prefer monks cloth draperies. They're durable and heavy . . . they're practical, too. But best of all they're a rich, natural shade that blends harmoniously with any color scheme. Army wives who follow their husbands know they're a wise choice because they can be adapted to any temporary home. Homemakers select them because they won't clash with furnishings already being used. These draperies are 2½ yds. long and 50" wide. Pinch pleated, ready to hang.
