Place To Learn

It is at the Communion rail, on retreat, and in church, where we will learn, and nowhere else; the banquet table where all men are equal before God, where we take into our hearts not only the words but the Body and Blood, Soul and Divinity of Christ our King. —From "Strike Called Off" by John E. Green in "America."

Split Milk—It doesn't pay to cry over split milk, but if you must, condense it.—Landy Lester Keller.

SENTRIES in the processing laboratories, bottles of blood donated to the American Red Cross are placed in centrifuge and whirled 3600 r.p.m. for one hour. Plasma rises to top like cream on milk.

Third Order Of St. Francis

Annual Visitation of the Third Order of St. Francis will take place at St. Patrick's Church, 464 Plymouth Avenue North, at 3:30 on Sunday afternoon, Jan. 23.

Father Benaventure McIntyre, from St. Joseph's Monastery in East Rutherford, N. J., after an examination into the spiritual and temporal affairs of the local chapter, will address the members at the regular meeting. An informal reception with refreshments will follow.

The following excerpt from the Franciscan Herald and Forum is timely:

"It cannot escape even the superficial observer that the Third Order holds a very special place in the regard of Mother Church. The care devoted to its definition and legislation in the Code; the many pronouncements in its favor by the Supreme Pontiffs, notably in the past three score years; the rich indulgences with which it has been endowed—all point to special concern on the part of Mother Church that the Third Order should be appreciated by the faithful, both clergy and laity, as something apart, something worthy of their special attention, respect, favor and endeavor.

"It would be difficult to say what similar institution of Mother Church has been honored by the recommendations of the Popes to the same extent. No less than three solemn encyclicals within the past threescore years have professedly concerned themselves with the Third Order, all but commanding its propagation by hierarchy and clergy generally.

"All this insistence is both apt and calculated to make the loyal child of Mother Church to take notice, to make him at least inquire into the special points in favor of the Third Order that call for such intensified recommendation. It is certainly worth the good Catholic's time to give thought to an institution which has thus preoccupied the Vicars of Christ on earth."

ST. GATIAN

—Bishop, came from Rome with St. Dionysius of Paris about the middle of the third century. In spite of great opposition he succeeded in making converts to the faith, although constantly in danger of death at the hands of the pagans. He died in peace and was honored with miracles.
