Impressive Rites Mark May Day Ceremony of O. L. P. H. Sodality

Our Lady of Perpetual Help Parish was the scene of an impressive May Day ceremony on Sunday, May 7. His Excellency, Bishop Kearney, honored the Sodality of Our Lady with his presence at the Mothers and Daughters' Banquet. The theme of the Bishop's after-dinner talk was "Song of Bernadette," or as he prefers to call it "Song of Mary."

Immediately after dinner the reception service took place in the Church. A living rosary was composed of the new Sodalists and also the present active members. The girls wore medal formals and bright spring flowers in their hair.

The traditional crowning of Our Blessed Lady followed. Miss Patricia McMahon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond McMahon, of 500 Remington St., was May Queen since she holds the chairmanship of Our Lady's Committee.

Her court included the Sodality officers, Miss Annamay Barrow and Miss Helen Teresa Lingl, co-prefects; Miss Dorothy Walter, secretary, and Miss Marie Bullinger, treasurer.

Representing the committees were the Misses Maria Zintner, Rose Marie Kuchman and Jean Seiderwand. Attendants to the Queen were past prefects: the Misses Marcella Schnorr, Agnes Meyering and Jean Reinhardt. Pagettes to the Queen were the little Misses Barbara Anne Fisher, Doreen Kroll, Margaret Mary Mathis, Ruth North, Carol Marie O'Connor, Jeanette Patnell, Jean Spenkgoor and Marilyn Winterkorn. The little Masters Richard Butler, Richard Camp, Michael Fischer, Richard Furstoss, Ronald Maier, Frank Ruh, Jr. and William Stephen were pages in the Queen's Court and George Fischer was crown bearer.

The Most Reverend Bishop received the candidates in the Sodality. They carried gardenias on white prayer books with white and blue ribbons.

The Church services were climaxed by Solemn Pontifical Benediction. The Rev. Robert Kraus was deacon and the Rev. John Widman, subdeacon. Assisting were the Rev. Joseph G. Merkel and the Rev. Joseph J. O'Connell.

A musical extravaganza written and directed by the Rev. Milton J. Kelly was presented in the school auditorium.

Arrangements were made by the Rev. Frank J. Hoefen, pastor, and honorary general chairman, and the Rev. Milton J. Kelly, Sodality Moderator and general chairman of all May Day details.

Introduces New Lard Product

With Martha Logan, Home Economist, Swift & Co., Chicago, as demonstrator, "Bland Lard," a new product of that company, has been introduced in demonstrations at Nazareth Academy, Our Lady of Mercy High School and other places, company officials announce.

"Bland Lard," which is endorsed by D. J. Hinman, manager of Rochester's Swift & Co. plant, is a versatile new product regarded by food scientists as being "the most important lard development in half a century."

Research chemists have found that by the addition of minute quantities of a vegetable material, known as gum guaiac, it has been found possible to protect lard's natural advantages. At the same time it is noted that it is possible to keep lard fresh when exposed to air without refrigeration.

The discovery is regarded as important to housewives, grocers and meat dealers. The chemists also point out that the tiny amount of gum guaiac added to lard protects it from the effects of oxygen in the air and also protects the linoleic acid constituents, essential to good health and normal development.

Will This Come About?

And the pages of history will carry the sad little comment that in the nineteenth and early twentieth centuries a noble experiment of popular self-government was tried, but somehow the little fellows making up the populace just weren't up to the job. So they turned the reins of government over to the few and settled back to taking orders again. — From "Government by the People," by Thomas P. Neill, in The Catholic World.

MILITARY DELEGATE GREETS HERO

Bishop William T. McCarty, C. SS. R., Military Delegate of the U. S. Armed Forces, greets a hero-chaplain, Father Stephen J. Meany, S. J., who was wounded in the attack on Makin Island. Chaplain Meany has great praise for the missioners and faith of the native Catholics. Pictured in New York with Father Meany and the Bishop is the Rev. Aloysius F. Coogan, editor of "Catholic Missions," publication of the National Society for the Propagation of the Faith. (N.C.W.C.)

Parish Lists Mardi Gras For School Building Fund

St. Margaret Mary Parish will hold a gala Spring Mardi Gras on the evenings of May 25, 26 and 27, at the School Auditorium in Rogers Parkway. Purpose of the bazaar is to start a building fund for the post-war expansion of the school building, which has become inadequate to the needs of this rapidly growing parish.

There will be "fun galore for young and old," with music, refreshments and games. Thursday evening, May 25, will be Parish Night; Friday evening, May 26, will be Legion Night, and Saturday evening, May 27, will be Community Night. However, Every Night will be Everybody's Night, and all friends of St. Margaret Mary's are cordially invited to join in the fun, the committee states.

The committee is headed by "Oxie" Hopp, as general chairman, assisted by Mrs. Elmer Dehn, as co-chairman; Mrs. Charles Gertner, secretary; Joseph Weber, Milton Peters, Arthur Meisenzahl and Joseph Hockenos, treasurers; Maurice Hyde, ticket chairman; Walter Redenhouse, chairman of arrangements; Edwin Fay, chairman of decorations; George E. McAvoy, chairman of Legion Night.

Chairmen of booths include John Blackwood, Mrs. Fred Heil, Mrs. Elmer Schroepfel, Mrs. John Blackwood, Mrs. Rose Hurley, Mr. Walter Norton, Mr. Edwin Tetzlaff, Miss Ruth Heil, Mrs. Edward Christoph, Harold Aspenleiter, Arthur Bauman, Frank Abel, Raymond Donovan and George Kaseman.

SMART PARENT

Hugh A. Grant, Sr., of Hutchinson, Kan., knows a little child psychology, it seems.

The first time spinach was placed before his son, Hugh A. Jr., his father said:

"You're too young to eat spinach. Don't touch it."

The boy passed the spinach up. The next time it was on the table he asked for "just a little taste"—and his father turned him down cold.

But the third time, Hugh, Jr., begged for a taste, Grant gave in.

Result: Young Grant has liked his spinach ever since.
