The NCCS Canteen Review

By The Observer

The Rosarians of Holy Rosary Church did a beautiful job on Sunday last. A melt-in-your mouth ham and egg breakfast was their very welcome contribution to our servicemen.

Their "extras" however, came in for a large share of the applause: a candy bar and a package of cigarettes for each and every serviceman! Don't think for a minute that the boys were at all backward about accepting, either—quite the contrary!

Mrs. Henry Terhaar was chairman of the party, ably assisted by a large committee, all of whom found themselves exceedingly busy as time went on. At nine o'clock there were about seven guests in the "Breakfast Room": at ten there were sixty-eight! So, as you can see, this was one of the mornings when our boys slept late and arrived on our premises in a body. We ended with a total of one hundred and nine boys served, and well served!

WELL SATISFIED

We thoughtfully asked one sailor if he had had enough to eat, just as he was in the act of applying a thick layer of cherry preserves to his third roll. "Yes, thanks," said he; "this is the best breakfast I've had since I was home on leave. The main trouble with 'chow' is that you bolt it down;—now, I like to sit over my meals."

We commented gently that we could see how it might take time to fill him up: six-foot-two and two hundred pounds! "You should have seen me two months ago," he replied, "when I had an office job in a radio business. I've lost fifty pounds since then." Whew!

More and more, it seems to us that the Canteen is developing too much talent for the service of guests, to just close up some day, when the war ends. Now we have a very efficient maitre d'hotel in the energetic person of Dr. Walter O'Neill. On arrival he takes up position among the tables, greeting the boys, finding places for them, helping clear away, and generally oiling the wheels of progress throughout breakfast. His jovial manner with the boys is one reason for his success — if they have an empty cranny they are well encouraged to fill it!

EMERGENCY CALL

Of course the entertainment in the hands of Maestro Rocco Natale (now sporting a real baton, putting him in the (turki) class), is quite an attraction too. This week previous arrangements for an orchestra failed to materialize, so that good friend of the Canteen, William Wells, answered a hasty call (which got him out of bed), to come down and play for the boys. A prime example of will-

St. Gerard's Unit to Serve At NCCS Canteen

Volunteers who will serve the Sunday breakfast for servicemen in the NCCS canteen, extension of the USO Dormitory Service, at the K. of C. Clubrooms, Columbus Civic Centre, on coming Sundays are:

Nov. 26 — St. Gerard's Maternity Guild.

Dec. 3 — Women's Board of St. Mary's Hospital.

Dec. 10 — Rosary Society of Corpus Christi.

Dec. 17 — Linen Supply Association.

Organizations desiring to sponsor a Sunday breakfast for servicemen, should call Miss Dorothy Craig, Genesee 7440.

ingness to serve the services. And of course, in the management department, too much can never be said for the cooperation of Mr. and Mrs. Stephen Gould, Frank Toomey and the girls of the staff. And never forget, most important of all, those wonderful men of the Knights who volunteer to cook every week and don their tall white hats to become Sunday chefs. Would that we could erect at Main and Clinton a plaque to honor each and every one!

One cute little sailor from Nashua, New Hampshire, named Ray, insisted that "Pop" Kelleher looked like his father. To prove it, he pulled out the usual billfold which bulges with pictures, and displayed a very attractive family group of eight, and also pictures of three other brothers away in service. "Pop" was very pleased, and declared his intention of visiting Nashua to see if his double could really be so good-looking!

St. Agnes High School Doings

In celebration of National Book Week the Sophomores of St. Agnes High School took a trip to the Goodman Street Library. They were cordially welcomed by Miss Altberg. Miss Adams gave them an interesting talk on modern literature.

Sophomores have elected for their class officers: President, Norma Edgerton; vice-president, Jean Meriel; secretary, Eloise Hise; treasurer, Joanne Gervais.

The following students on Friday, Nov. 17, formed a club to be known as the Library Council: Norma Edgerton, Jean Bindagie, Shirley Danche, Margaret Deberty, Joanne Gervais, Eloise Hise, Patricia Kirby, Jean Meriel, Dolores Morgan, Crescentia Fallow, Jean Smith, Dolores Werner. They elected as their chairman Patricia Kirby and as secretary Jean Smith.

To mark the Feast of Saint Cecilia, patroness of music, the student body enjoyed a program of vocal and instrumental music. Patricia Lynch, president of the Senior Class, acted as chairman.
