The NCCS Canteen Review

By The Observer

The loss of Dr. Walter B. O'Neill will be felt in many Catholic and medical circles, but no where more so than at the NCCS Canteen. Active on the staff from the beginning,

Dr. O'Neill has been a tremendous help both through his numerous contacts and his indomitable spirit. Never has the feeling of "Can this succeed?" been allowed to flourish here. "Of course it will!" or "We can do that easily!" has always been "Doc's" attitude in meeting the numerous knotty problems which have arisen during the Canteen's year of existence. It would be impossible to over-estimate the importance of this gift of his to the Canteen.

"Doc" had the knack of meeting servicemen polished until it had become an art. The particular job which was his every Sunday morning was one which he created himself. He acted as "master of ceremonies" in our "Breakfast Room," establishing himself among the tables, there to superintend the placing of the boys and their service and to insist that they have their second helpings! He had a word for every guest, and never seemed to forget one or to confuse him with another—which happens easily and often, since uniforms are so much alike!

He always had a story about one of "our boys" fresh in his mind. To him each sailor or soldier was a friend, to chat with, to console, to help if possible. Many were the instances where his good offices brought a worried serviceman up "out of the dumps."

Not long ago one of our guests, a sailor, appeared very glum and upset. "Doc," through tactful questioning and offers, learned the story: the youthful sailor, from a southern state, had been notified ten days previously that his mother was to undergo a serious, possibly fatal, operation. Since that time he had had no word on the result of the operation, and worry was gnawing at his vitals. "Look, son," said Doc, "why don't you just call up home and find out how things are?" The boy refused; he couldn't do that. He wasn't asking for anything; but eventually "Doc" dug out the information that the fellow just didn't have the money to make the phone call.

The result was what you might expect. "Doc" trotted the unhappy sailor out to the office and put in a call to his home. The sailor returned a different boy. "Doc" went back to his job in the Breakfast Room. And that is all there was to the story—but the boy will never forget, and neither will any of the Canteen members. This example is but typical of his kindness to the boys, his deep need for doing everything for them that could be done.

It's a very true statement, and can't nearly express the depth of our feeling, but there it is: the NCCS Canteen will miss Doctor O'Neill sorely.

'Song of Bernadette' Film Sound Tracked in French

The first American film since the fall of France to have an additional version in French will be 20th Century Fox dramatization of Franz Werfel's "The Song of Bernadette" which opens Wednesday at the Century Theatre and is being shown for the first time at regular prices.

In preparation for the time when Europe will again be a market for American films, the picture based on the best selling novel about the Maid of Lourdes whose faith and courage stirred all of France has been made with an additional sound track in French. Because of the Universal appeal of the Werfel story which has already been translated into eight languages, Italian and German versions may also be undertaken.

Parish Group Fetes Chaplain

Honoring Chaplain Joseph G. Goff, who reported to the Army Chaplain's School, Fort Devens, Mass., on March 15, a spaghetti supper was served in Holy Family Church meeting rooms on March 16.

Mrs. Arthur Mandara prepared the spaghetti assisted by Mrs. Clarence Kehoe and Mrs. Frederick Springer. Table decorations were in charge of Mrs. Edward Lang. Guests included priests of the parish, missionaries who were at Camp Leitchworth with the Civil Scouts of Holy Family Parish in 1942. Members of Troop 197 served the supper.

There is ... in the minds of men, a certain passage, as it were, of a future existence, and this takes the deepest root, and is most discoverable, in the greatest geniuses and most exalted souls. Cicero.
