MILD and MELLOW

Thank You, Lord Macaulay!

He's been dead since 1858, has Thomas Babington Macaulay, but we Catholics still appreciate the tribute which he, an outsider, paid to our Church. Here it is, in part, from his Kennys, Critical and Miscellaneous:

"No other institution is left standing which carries the mind back to the times when the smoke of sacrifice rose from the Pantheon, and when camelopards and tigers bounded in the Flavian amphitheater.

"The provincial royal houses are but, of yesterday, when compared with the line of the Supreme Pontiffs. That line we trace back in an unbroken series from the Pope who crowned Napoleon in the nineteenth century, to the Pope who crowned Pepin in the eighth; and far beyond the time of Pepin the august dynasty extends. The republic of Venice came next in antiquity. But the republic of Venice is gone, and the Papacy remains. The Papacy remains, not in decay, not a mere antique, but full of life and youthful vigor.

"The Catholic Church is still sending forth to the farthest ends of the world missionaries as zealous as those who landed in Kent with Augustine, and still confronting hostile kings with the same spirit with which she confronted Attila.

"The number of her children is greater than in any former age. Her acquisitions in the New World have more than compensated for what she has lost in the Old. Her spiritual ascendancy extends over the vast countries which lie between the plains of the Missouri and Cape Horn, countries which, a century hence, may not improbably contain a population as large as that which now inhabits Europe. . . .

"Nor do we see any sign which indicates that the term of her long dominion is approaching. She saw the commencement of all the governments and of all the ecclesiastical establishments that now exist in the world; and we feel no assurance that she is not destined to see the end of them all. She was great and respected before the Saxon had set foot on Britain, before the Frank had passed the Rhine, when the Grecian eloquence still flourished at Antioch, when idols were still worshipped in the temple of Mecca. And she may still exist in undiminished vigor when some traveller from New Zealand shall, in the midst of a vast solitude, take his stand on a broken arch of London Bridge to sketch the ruins of St. Paul's."

'Report on Russians' Critics Scored

New York — (NC) — Evidence of "group action" is indicated in "savage reviews" of W. L. White's "Report on the Russians," an editorial in a recent issue of America, published here, observes.

As an example of this group action, the editorial points out that the Saturday Review of Literature carried five adverse reviews of Mr. White's volume in one issue.

"Protesting letters to editors have been so numerous that their writing seems an organized affair," the editorial says. "The entire intemperate reaction to a book that pretends to do no more than merely record the impressions of a six weeks' trip sets a dangerous precedent. Can it be that there is an American intellectual OGPU?"

Catholic Hospital Group Cancels 1945 Convention

St. Louis — (NC) — The executive board of the Catholic Hospital Association here has announced that, desiring to cooperate with the Office of Defense Transportation, it has decided to omit the annual convention of the Association this year. The announcement was made on behalf of the executive board by the Rev. Alphonse M. Schmitt, Jr., president.
