Symbolism of Holy Ghost Features Redecoration of Coldwater Church

Devotions of the Forty Hours will be conducted beginning Sunday, Oct. 21, at the completion of improvements and interior redecoration of Holy Ghost Church, Coldwater.

The Most Rev. Bishop James E. Kearney has accepted an invitation to offer Mass in Holy Ghost Church Sunday, Nov. 18.

Opening the Forty Hours a Solemn High Mass will be celebrated Sunday at 10 a. m. by the Very Rev. Edward M. Lyons, Rector of St. Andrew's Seminary.

Assisting as Deacon and Subdeacon of the Mass will be the Rev. Raymond Anabel, S.J. and the Rev. Patrick Cleary of the Catholic Foreign Missionary Society at Maryknoll.

Father Anabel will also deliver the sermons on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday evenings at 8 o'clock.

Decoration of the Coldwater church was supervised by Professor Gonippo Raggi, Knight of of St. Gregory and Papal Chamberlain.

As the church is dedicated to the Holy Ghost the emblem of the Holy Ghost in the form of a Dove is represented in the center panel of the apsis of the sanctuary. The emblem is surrounded by rich and symbolic ornaments on a lapis-lazuli blue background.

The ornaments are executed in alto-relief effect and in the style conforming with the architecture of the church. They consist of lilies to symbolize purity, grapes and wheat to symbolize the Sacrament of the Eucharist, palms and passion flowers to express the martyrdom and suffering of Our Lord.

In the center of the panel an ornament was executed showing the Spiritual Vase containing the Waters of Life resting on the Book of the Gospel with the seven seals. (Taken from the Apocalypse). Two peacocks, emblems of the Resurrection and the Immortality of the Soul, are drinking the Waters of Life symbolizing the life and salvation of mankind through the Sacraments.

The two panels one on each side of the center representing the figure of Our Lord Jesus Christ on the left side and on the right, God the Father, each with His respective emblems and both calling attention to the Holy Ghost. Other emblems such as the Tablet of the Ten Commandments, the Lamb of God, Chi Rho, the Pelican, the Anchor with the Dolphin on the upper part of the apsis and a frieze of cherub heads and a damask effect on the wall complete the decoration of the sanctuary.

The body of the church has been completely decorated in corresponding tones with rich damask effect as a background for the side altars. Classical symbols of the Trinity and the Sacraments with rich borders and dado have transformed the appearance of the church. The altars have been modernized, the Stations of the Cross and the Statues have been refinished under the direction of John D. ArcAngelo of the Art Center of Buffalo, N. Y. Kneeling pads throughout the church have been renewed and new carpets in the aisles have helped to make Holy Ghost Church one of the nicest rural churches in the diocese of Rochester.
