

House of Hospitality Makes Annual Plea for Assistance

Still engaged, for the eighth consecutive year, in the charitable work of feeding homeless and transient men, the Catholic Worker Group which conducts St. Joseph House of Hospitality, 402 South Ave., last week issued its annual Christmas appeal.

More than 50 men go daily to the House for breakfast and supper, according to the Rev. George C. Vogt, chaplain of the CW group. There is constantly a need for food, he said, to continue giving out these free meals.

Several Rochester Catholics regularly give small donations of money to help provide the meals. There seldom is a time in the average year, however,

Need for clothing also is tantamount at this particular time, Father Vogt declared. The men who come to the house often are without overcoats, shirts, suits, socks, rubbers, underwear and so on.

Money contributions should be sent to Father Vogt at 321 Lake Avenue. Food and clothing donations will be accepted at the South Avenue house, or will be picked up by calling the house at Main 8789.

Albania Ousts Italian Priests

Rome — (UPI) The Albanian Government has ordered the expulsion from Albanian territory of all priests and members of religious orders who are of Italian origin, according to an Albanian missionary now in Rome.

The order works a particular hardship upon those Catholic missionaries who have been established in Albania for many years. The Jesuits, for instance, have been there since 1841.

Many of the missionaries now required to leave the country have been in Albania thirty to forty years without interruption and have become true Albanians.
