War Vets Get Greetings From Bishop, President

New York — (NC) — A wish for the peace of Christ and an expression of gratitude were contained in the Christmas greetings sent to the Catholic War Veterans here by Bishop William T. McCarty, Military Eclegate and Honorary National Chaplain of the CWV, and by President Harry S. Truman.

"To you who have so richly earned the enduring gratitude of the nation," the President's message said, "your unselfish devotion to duty has preserved for all of us our precious heritage of liberty."

Teaching Nuns to Hawaii

Honolulu — (NC) — Three communities of teaching nuns will send members to Hawaii for the first time early in 1946. It was announced here by Bishop James J. Sweeney of Honolulu.

They are the Sisters of Charity of the Blessed Virgin, of Dubuque; the Sisters of Notre Dame de Namur, of Waltham, Mass., and the Franciscan Sisters of Christian Charity, of Manitowoc, Wis.

Better Living on the Farm

Electricity has taken over more and more chores. It pumps water, grinds feed, cures hay, fills silos. It steps up milk and egg and pork production. It eases farm housework, too.

Low cost, dependable electricity has done more than any other force to make farming more efficient and profitable and farm life more comfortable.

How electrified the farms? Rural electric service didn't happen overnight. It started more than 25 years ago—

REDDY KILOWATT SAYS:

"Let me help with your farm chores."

ago—with America's business-managed electric companies. These companies did the pioneering—the pick-and-shovel work.

Each problem was licked in turn by American initiative and ingenuity. Service grew steadily better and cheaper. Farm by farm, area by area, the web of wire expanded.

WHAT OF TOMORROW? Today, business-managed electric companies serve about two-thirds of all electrical farms and millions of other rural customers outside of incorporated towns.

But the job isn't done even though this area is nearer to complete electrification than many regions. Right now, as fast as wire and materials become available, more power companies are extending service to many additional farms. The more farm customers and the more power, the more power.
