Chaplain Heindl To Get Mass Kit As Dansville Gift

Dansville — A purse which he received from the people of St. Mary's Church, Dansville, will enable Chaplain Elmer W. Heindl, former assistant pastor there, to purchase a new Mass kit replacing Field Mass kit soiled and strained by his 41 months front line service in the South-west Pacific.

Father Heindl returned to his old parish Sunday where he celebrated Mass and gave Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. In his sermon, the chaplain spoke of the great power of prayer in achieving victory.

At a reception held in the K. of C. Hall from 3 until 6 p. m. the former assistant was presented with a purse in token of appreciation for his work there.

He spoke briefly of his experiences and mentioned gratefully the prayers and letters received from Dansville friends. Expressing his thanks for the gift he stated his intention of buying a new Mass kit which he would dedicate to St. Mary's.

Rev. Orrin W. Feller of St. Mary's welcomed him and reviewed Father Heindl's achievements and record. A group of men of the parish acted as a Reception Committee.

Attending the reception were the Rev. John O'Donnell of St. Patrick's, Dansville, Rev. Adelbert Schneider of Wayland and Rev. Charles P. Riefer of Perkinsville.

Father Heindl, who served as assistant at St. Mary's in 1936 and 37, was a member of the famous Buckeye 37th Division. During the battle for Manila he earned the Distinguished Service Cross which was awarded by General MacArthur. Previously he had received the Silver Star.

Here is the frontispiece from ARMY THE BLUE, a book of 8 stories about heaven for little children, by Mary Catherine Blum. Illustrated by Ruth Hallman, the book contains ten full-page color pictures as well as many black and white drawings.

Church Miniature Given to Wife

Shamokin, N. S. — (NC) — A remarkable reproduction in miniature of the Church of "La Madonna di Fontanellato al Suo Santuario," at Fontanellato, near Parma, Italy, is on display here. The replica was made by Albert Morin in fulfillment of a promise to his wife, a native of Italy, that when she became an American citizen he would make a miniature of the church where she was baptized. The task took two years of Morin's spare time.

English Cardinal-Elect Gives Thanks for U. S. Aid

Washington — (NC) — "Most grateful thanks for the magnificent generosity of Catholics in the United States" in aiding war victims of Great Britain were expressed by Cardinal-designate Bernard Griffin, Archbishop of Westminster, in a telegram to Cardinal-designate Samuel A. Stritch, Archbishop of Chicago and Chairman of the Administrative Board, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

"Over 80,000 pound sterling," the message says, "have been received and distributed during the war period among homeless persons, orphaned children, hospitals, aged persons, convents, seamen's hostels and chapels, in addition to £8,000 gifts in kind."

Vatican Stresses Duty Of Italians to Vote

Rome — (CIP) — The Consistorial Congregation at the Vatican has sent to all Italian Bishops a circular containing instructions for the forthcoming elections. The first part emphasizes the duty of every citizen to go to the polls, the second part specifies the principles which Catholics must observe in the choice of candidates.

The instructions are as follows:

"(1) In view of the dangers to which millions of souls from good are exposed and in view of the fact that the dangers are so grave that the harmonious collaboration of all honest people is required, all those entitled to vote, of whatever condition, sex, or age they may be, are strictly bound in conscience to make use of their right. (2) Catholics may give their vote only to those candidates or lists of candidates about whom they are certain that they will respect and defend the observance of the Divine Law and of the rights of religion and the Church in private and public life. The more the platform and the practical action of a candidate permit and justify this certainty, the greater will be the tranquillity of conscience with which Catholics will be able to freely vote for them."

It is pointed out in well-informed circles that, by advising Catholics to consider not only the electoral platform but also the "practical action" of the candidates, the Vatican wants to warn against candidates who are generous in their promises and theoretical statements, but do not respect the rights of religion and the Church in their practical policies.
