Munich Rededicates St. Mary's Column

In the heart of the Bavarian capital, surrounded by buildings ruined by the war, the Catholics of Munich rededicated the statue of Blessed Mother set up three centuries ago, but removed during the war to protect it from air raids. German Catholic Life Reviving

BY MAX JORDAN. Munich — (NC) — Catholic life in Germany was surging vigorously on the threshold of 1946 — amidst physical ruins, it is true, but with the hearts of the faithful undaunted. To them, the defeat of their country meant at the same time the defeat of one of the bitterest enemies the Church has had to face in its history.

Symbolic of the new lease on life Catholics have gained through Allied victory was the recent rededication of St. Mary's monument in the very heart of the Bavarian capital, across the street from the offices of the American Military Government.

ceded in restoring their monasteries so they are again inhabitable, particularly for the many refugees pouring in from the Eastern provinces, some thousands of whom are priests and some 10,000 Sisters. A wooden emergency church was built in a new suburban district.

FROM MOBS TO MILES. It is ironic to see mobs divide to miles in the Church. When St. John Chrysostom preached to his people in Istanbul, once Constantinople, Turkey, mobs came to hear him.

WARNING. Poor Father Gautier, superior of St. Louis Seminary in Istanbul, knows all too well the meaning of Chrysostom's words: 'What seem to be honors are only burdens.'

ST. MARY'S. When St. John wrote his grand book on the education of children, little did he think that some day Near East friends would be asked to help his St. Mary's School in Istanbul.

"NO MAN". "No man loved God more than Paul," said Chrysostom. Right now the dear Father at St. Paul in Syria has 2000 to save two missions from ruin. Love God, love their names, save by being good to His poor.

RICH DWELLING. "Make the Word of God dwell in you richly." Rare indeed are the gifts in these lands of Chrysostom of a chapel, which costs a thousand dollars, or of chapel furnishings, which cost one hundred and fifty, still we must build more houses of God.

AWESOME. "At Mass then, the angels bow in trembling reverence before the altar." Help the sons of Chrysostom in the Near East with Mass offerings.

SPECIAL FERA. The dear Sisters in the Hospital at Makaria, Syria, built by Near East friends, have just sent an urgent plea for medical kits, costing $50. They heal the sick poor.

CHAMPION. On every page of his six huge volumes, Chrysostom demands justice for the poor. From "MARTY BANK" for Near East missions, to help the poor, and the aged in their need, through a you, too, reach the needy to the poor.

NOW HE LOOKED. A bearded and worn face, with deep-set eyes, remarkably bright, golden hair, affectionate and intense, you see this picture of St. John in a Near East chapel for $100.

Reburial Planned For Heroic Prelate.
