

Socialists Urged To Mark Church Unity Octave

Auburn — The Sodality of Mary of St. Mary's Church held their annual Covered Dish Supper in Lyman Hall on Monday evening. Miss Mary Conrad and Miss Miriam Hickey were the co-chairmen of the committee in charge.

Words of welcome were extended to the socialists by Miss Margaret Ryan president of the Senior Sodality and Miss Kay Driscoll president of the Junior Sodality. Miss Miriam Hickey was toastmistress. Brief remarks were made by the Rev. Dr. W. E. Cowell, pastor, the Rev. John White and the Rev. Leo McManis.

Rev. Vincent Collins of St. Francis Church and moderator of the Sodality of that parish, was guest speaker. Father Collins spoke on "Vocations." In his talk he said there were three vocations, namely: the religious life, the married life and the state of single blessedness. "A young woman could save her soul in any state of life," he said, "but she could save it best in the state of life to which she was called." He concluded his talk by saying "A vocation is only a state of life or a vocation in the state of life, whether it be religious, married or single."

Rev. Dennis Hickey, moderator of the Sodality, spoke on "Spiritual Progress." He suggested that each socialists make the Church Unity Octave private. By making the Church Unity Octave, Father Hickey told the socialists, they would be carrying out the Sodality project of sanctification of one's self and neighbor. Prayer should be given to each socialist as a sacrament of the evening's prayer. The program in the church was in charge of Rev. John White. Patricia O'Brien was the introduction and Miss Cappelle and Lois Thomas the soloists. Soloists were Patricia Nugent, Dolores Cappelle and Janet Magwalt. A collection was given by Jean Broward and Margaret Doyle and closed.
