Truman Asks Bill of Rights For Family

Washington — (NC) — "The measure of a civilization is the measure of its family life," President Harry S. Truman remarked in a message to the four-day annual convention of the National Catholic Conference on Family Life, which opened here this week at the Catholic University of America. The President recommended that a bill be made "for a bill of rights for the family."

An array of notable speakers, with topics on all phases of family life, was scheduled to address the four-day session. The Conference is sponsored by the Family Life Bureau of the National Catholic Welfare Conference.

"I have noted with keen interest," President Truman's message stated, "the sessions on family life to be held at the Catholic University of America under the joint auspices of the Family Life Bureau, National Catholic Welfare Conference and the National Catholic Conference on Family Life."

Deliberations which your program calls for are timely. Indeed, it would seem inconceivable that, as we put our hands and our hearts to the giant task of building anew at this turning point in history, we should fail to center a great share of our attention and effort upon the family unit. The measure of a civilization is the measure of its family life. It is normally the soil of the steady and responsible home that breeds that important driving incentive of a people that induces them to strive and work, to move upward and onward, to progress.

"The conviction has grown on me consistently that many things in our civilization are working against the family. Our housing situation, for instance, the economic insecurity of so many of our people, the instability and turmoil that have been among the unfortunate fruits of the war — these and similar problems are hardly less than attacks on the family. It is encouraging to know that the deliberations of your meeting will extend to so many of them."

Family Rights Bill
"Perhaps it were well if we in America, who have in the past fought so well for a bill of rights for the individual, would in the future fight a less valiantly for a bill of rights for the family. The fact that your program is sponsored by a church group gives assurance that the strengthening and refining influence of religion in the family circle will be given attention."

Among the speakers at the first day's proceedings were Mrs. Patrick J. McCracken, rector of the Catholic University, who gave the address of welcome; the Rev. Dr. Edgar Heintzelman, O.S.B., Director of the Family Life Bureau, N.C.W.C.; Rev. Francis J. Rooney, of Mundelein College, Chicago; the Rev. James A. Magner, procurator of the Catholic University; the Very Rev. Thomas Verne Moore, O.S.B., head of the department of psychology and psychiatry at the university; Miss Rose M. McDonough, dean of St. Joseph's College, West Hartford, Conn.; the Rev. Thomas J. Murphy, of St. Vincent's College, N.Y.; the Rev. Dr. George Gordon, Minister of National Health and Welfare; Dr. Charles C. and Harry Park, parliamentary law expert of the Department of Industrial Organization, who read a message from the National Family Life Bureau.
