Scot Bishop Welcomes Action on Anti-Red Talk

London — (NC) — Answering an attack made against him in the British House of Commons, Archbishop Andrew J. McDonald, O.S.B., of St. Andrew and Edinburgh, Scotland, has asserted he will "welcome a prosecution" for criminal libel for statements made in a pastoral letter concerning cruelties perpetrated by Soviet forces in occupied areas of Europe.

The attack was made by D. N. Pritt, Labor Party member and well-known as a friend of Soviet Russia, who inquired of Sir Hartley Shawcross, British Attorney General, whether his attention had been called to a document distributed in England without a printer's name or address.

All books, newspapers, pamphlets or literature of any sort published in Great Britain, must carry, under the law, the name and address of the printer.

Mr. Pritt spoke of literature coming from "a body called the Catholic Social Guild and written by the Archbishop of St. Andrew and Edinburgh, in which military operations of our Soviet allies against our Nazi enemies are compared to the onward rush of Mongol hordes, and our allies themselves are alleged to surpass the worst achievements of Nazi degenerates." Mr. Pritt asked whether the Attorney would consider prosecution of those responsible for the literature for criminal libel.

The Attorney General replied that the document appeared to have been published in Scotland, where there is no law corresponding to England's criminal libel statute, and that he would not be justified in instituting prosecution in England.

When informed of Mr. Pritt's action, Archbishop MacDonald said that "I pointing out the truth, no matter how unpleasant it may be, is libel, then I welcome the prosecution."

"I am glad of this opportunity," the Archbishop continued, "of bringing to the public attention a matter which must perturb the conscience of freedom-loving Christians. Excesses are an inevitable concomitant of war and to be expected, if lamented, but — and I would stress this — the excesses displayed by the Russian armies in the way of mass deportations, political murders, wholesale thieving, raping, crimes for which our Nazi enemies are even now being tried at Nuremberg, these excesses, if allowed to continue, will spell the doom of Christian civilization in Eastern Europe.

Absent Cardinals Flown Birettas from Rome

Rome — Special planes took off from Rome last week bearing the two scarlet birettas to be presented to Cardinals-elect Archbishop Jules Saliège of Toulouse, France, and Archbishop John de Jong of Utrecht, Holland. Both prelates were prevented by illness from going to Rome to receive the birettas in person from Pope Pius XII during the consistory.

Poles Cautious Hailing Cardinal

Rome — (RNS) — Polish Catholics attending the recent public consistory in St. Peter's Basilica were markedly discreet in hailing their new Cardinal Archbishop Adam Sapieha of Cracow, when Pope Pius XII formally presented him with the traditional Red Hat.

As the Polish cardinal entered the great basilica, he was greeted with affectionate but subdued salutes by Polish soldiers, who had evidently been warned not to make his return to Poland more difficult by a too-open display of Adeltty.

Following the consistory, Cardinal Sapieha was visited by Casimir Fapey, who was appointed Ambassador to the Holy See by the prewar Polish government but is not recognized by the new Warsaw regime. The next day, however, the Polish cardinal paid a visit to Stanislaus Kot, Warsaw envoy to the Italian government.
