Father Gillis Says:

Symbol Snuffed Out, Reality Remains

The Yardstick

That's No Joke, Son!

Brice Marshall, author of 'Father Malachy's Miracle' and 'The World, the Flesh and the Devil'...

cat or drink, and that unless the sacrifice was that of a pure or a contrite heart, it was not welcome to Him.

I can't understand the American Communists. They don't seem to know when they're well off. Let's take an example. Their official publication, the Daily Worker...

harsh judgment on its merits without an appeal to authority. But since I've never had to meet a payroll, as the saying goes, let me refer to a recent statement by a distinguished businessman who has...

But Mr. Marshall's little anecdote started my mind going on the same subject but in a somewhat different direction. The moral he drew was chiefly that symbolism is necessary for us human beings...

With that may be a pretty heavy sermon to preach over a slight incident. But after all no incident is really a slight incident...

It needs to be said in all rejoinders that some of the most powerful business lobbies in the United States are their own worst enemies...

Finally, in response to a question from the floor concerning how conservative managements can be held on instituting human relations with employees, General Johnson answered: 'If American management hasn't learned any lessons in the decade of depression and the six years of war economy...

AS WE SEE IT: Peace—It's Wonderful

The nations of the world do not wish a repetition of the calamities of war. They fight consistently for consolidation of peace and security.

I've Started My Harvesting Already, Neighbor

Washington (Exclusive) — Behind the spectre of hunger which rides the sides over the Middle East and the Orient looms the less immediate threat of opium.

How Much Worship Due?

Suppose a man paid taxes according to his individual conscience and nothing else? What then? A minute, say, would pay more than their share. A very few would give what they pay now; but the vast majority would pay so little (if any) that the government could not function.

Peace of Paris

The eyes of the world are on Paris these days as plans are in the making to close World War II by a treaty of peace. There must be a treaty for every war. The terms are in the hands of the victors. They will be such as will ensure a peace that will last, that will be lasting.

Food vs. Atom Bomb

Washington — It was observed by someone not long ago that if scientists get to the point of developing electrical impulses, or rays, that would explode ammunition in an enemy's possession, men might revert to fighting with lances.

The Good Shepherd

They might wonder how the Pharisees took Christ's statement that He was the Good Shepherd. The flock was always before Him, every member of it known to Him. In every danger He was with His sheep, ready to die for them.
