U. S. Aides Silence German Bishops

(Continued from page 1) distribution, the bishops say that "what is happening now in the German East has hardly anything to do with a true reform."

Catholic social efforts in Italy, Dr. Shuster said, where Missions sought to crush the social reform movement led by Don Sturzo, in Germany, where Hitler's most stubborn antagonist was a virile Christian social tradition, and in other European countries Catholic social effort must be understood as developing out of the basic contest with Liberalism and Marxism for the soul of the people.
