WASHINGTON European Study Trip By TOM ROGERS

Washington. That dear reader is this. And if you write to your Senator or Congressman, they will be happy to forward to you the most accurate and damning single piece of evidence that has yet been released for general publication by any congressional committee...

Mr. Strunsky, or whoever it was that wrote the column 'Topics of the Times' on that particular day (May 29th) went on to say:

"It must be admitted at the outset that mistakes, faults and omissions are inevitable in any program of this nature..."

These we have once again the problem re-stated in this place. Where does religion end and affairs of state begin? Is there, or can there be, a right line of demarcation between the two? Or do they overlap and intertangle?

For example, if a nation-wide system of religious education is to be established, it must be a system of religious education, not a system of secular education..."

These and other questions, if there happens to be a spot anywhere on earth which serves as a clearing house of information and of moral instruction, is a spot to which every civilized government, or almost every one, sends a representative..."
