Widows of veterans of both World War One and World War Two, are granted special considerations by the government. Widows of World War One veterans are eligible for a pension providing their income does not exceed $1000, or $2500, if they have dependent children. Widows of veterans are entitled to preference on Federal Civil Service Lists as demonstrated in our initial question this week.

A. Yes. All widows of veterans, whether or not the veteran's death was due to his service, are given a 10 point preference rating in federal civil service examinations. Wives of disabled veterans also get 10 points credit if their husbands are unable to qualify for civil service jobs because of their service-connected disabilities.

A. Yes, however as you are at present receiving one more-allowance, you will not be eligible for a subsistence allowance.

A. A mother writes she is receiving a family allowance on her son's behalf. She asks if her family allowance will continue while he is attending school?

A. Your family allowance will be discontinued at the end of the month in which your son receives his discharge. When your son wants to return to school, he may claim you as a dependent and he will be granted an additional subsistence allowance.

A. A vet planning to secure a loan guarantee under the G. I. Bill asks if the government pays all the interest on Veterans' Administration loans?

A. No. During the first year of the loan, the Veterans' Administration pays the interest on that part of the loan which is guaranteed. The vet pays the rest of the interest.

A. A wife writes that her husband will make a career of the Army. She asks if the time he served in the National Guard is counted toward retirement benefits in the regular Army?

A. Only time in the National Guard when the Guard was federalized (i.e. mustered into federal service) may be counted in figuring length of service for purposes of retiring from the regular Army.
