First Catholic Vets Post Established Here

Rochester's first post of Catholic War Veterans was formed this week at a meeting in Holy Rosary Hall, Lexington Ave. The Rev. John S. Whalen, former Navy chaplain and now assistant pastor of Holy Rosary, presided at the meeting held on Monday evening and was named chaplain of the new post.

REV. JOHN S. WHALEN

The meeting attended by seventy men, all veterans of World War I and World War II, voted to make immediate application for a charter to the national headquarters of the Catholic War Veterans in New York City.

Officers Named

Temporary officers, all veterans of World War II, were also elected at the meeting. They are: Acting Commander, David Dupre; Acting Adjutant, Donald J. Foley, and Acting Treasurer, Robert Stutz.

A committee was appointed to draw up a constitution which will be voted upon at another meeting in Holy Rosary Hall next Monday evening.

Present at this week's meeting to explain the aims and purposes of the Catholic War Veterans were National Organizer William Cummings of Buffalo; and John Grotz, Commander of Erie County CWV.

Father Whalen explained that membership in the newly formed post is not confined to members of Holy Rosary Parish but is open to all Catholic veterans of the city who wish to join.

Candidates for membership in the Catholic War Veterans, Father Whalen said, must be Catholics and veterans of service in the armed forces of the United States with records of honorable discharge.

The men were complimented on their strict observance of silence from the opening conference at 9 o'clock Friday until Sunday dinner.

Rev. John M. Duffy, pastor of St. Augustine's parish, made his own private retreat over the weekend at the Retreat House. He officiated at Benediction closing the retreat, and expressed his edification at the devotion shown by the retreatants.

986 Veterans Seek 152 Apartments

The three weeks application period for the Rochester Civic Rental Project at Fernwood Park ended today. A total of 1841 rental application forms have been given out by the eight local commercial and savings banks and, according to Mr. Elmer R. Millimaw, yesterday's returns totaled 986.

Although many Veterans sent in applications just in time to make the deadline of August 15 even the last minute applicants will have the same chance as the first, said Mr. Millman. The anonymous rental committee, consisting entirely of non-bankers, will start work immediately to determine which of the 986 applicants the 152 apartments will go to.

Selection is being determined entirely on merit and urgency of the Veteran, and the date of the application will be given no consideration whatsoever. The Veterans who do not meet the urgency requirements will be notified within a week so that the Rochester Plan will not interfere with whatever other housing plans they may have.

Immaculate Picked As Youth Center

Immaculate Conception Auditorium, Plymouth Avenue South, has been selected as the Friday Night Youth Centre of the recently established Hollandia Youth Service.

The Immaculate Dancing Centre, conducted by the Immaculate Conception Youth Club, was featured by the Hollandia Youth Service in its first monthly publication.

Under the supervision of William Lindsay, Hollandia also brings to the attention of the city's teen-agers other activities of interest in Rochester.

Immaculate's Friday night dances attract a city-wide attendance regularly from week to week. The dances feature Joe Nolan's orchestra, with Ray Hackshaw at the piano and Jimmie Strohmeier on tenor sax. Vocalists are Don O'Connor and Charles Mumphino. Dancing begins each Friday evening at 9 and continues until midnight. Teen-agers from every high school in the city are in charge of all the arrangements.

Extra transportation to and from the Immaculate Auditorium is provided each week by the Rochester Transit Corporation.

70 Conversions In School for Colored

New York — (NC) — Seventy conversions to the Faith have been brought about in St. Joseph's High School, a St. Louis archdiocesan school for the Colored, in the eighth year of its existence, according to an article in the Interracial Review published here.

The Institution, which is conducted by the Sisters of St. Joseph of Carondelet, has achieved such a high standard of education that many non-Catholic Negro students have left public high schools and enrolled in St. Joseph's, the article states.

U. S. School Aid Pamphlet

Washington — (NC) — A pamphlet setting forth the Catholic position on Federal aid to education, written by Archbishop John T. McNicholas, O.P., of Cincinnati, President General of the National Catholic Educational Association, is being circulated by the national office here.

The bride wore a light blue suit with floral headpiece and carried a nosegay of sweet peas. Mrs. Johns wore a pink dress with white accessories and carried a nosegay of mixed sweet peas.

A reception was held at the home of the bridegroom for members of the family and friends.

After a wedding trip, the bride and bridegroom will reside at 104 Genesee Street.

Guests were present at the wedding from Oneida, Elmira, Geneva, and Canandaigua.

Why Mysteries?

—By Rev. Richard Glader—

Well, the answer certainly is not flattering. A mystery, of course, is something we can't fathom; it's a problem we can't solve.

Take a murder. We stumble over the corpse of a man who has just been shot. There's our corpse. Beside it lies a revolver. No one can argue about that. But we can't figure out who did the shooting or why. Our minds are limited in their powers. Could we by some second sight know what went on at the time of the shooting, or could we read the minds of those around us, or see into the future, we could solve the problem quite easily. But being just normal human beings, we're "stumped." Oh, it's probable that a detective could solve the crime — but he has lots of experience and specialized training — and then even he might not be able to find the criminal.

Certainly, though, we're not going to help matters by asserting either that this violent death never occurred, or that there was no revolver mixed up in the case.

When we turn our eyes toward eternity, then, and try to study out some of the problems involved in God's dealings with us, our minds run up against the same difficulty: only here the mysteries are much deeper and far more puzzling. Just think of the differences: God knows everything — past, present, and future, while we know very little: He can do everything, we are weak; there never was a time when God did not exist; He is absolutely holy and just; He is everywhere at once. We compare with Him as a cupful with the ocean. We can see so little of Him with one glance; and so much escapes us that — well, is it any wonder that religion, our dealing with God, is fraught with mystery?

The Trinity, for instance: The Father is God, Jesus is God, and the Holy Ghost is God; yet Jesus Himself assures us that there is but one God. It is a mystery.

We aren't going to solve that mystery, either, by simply ignoring one of another of the terms. We could solve it, perhaps, by saying there are really three gods, and that Jesus and the Holy Ghost are not God, or that there is no God. But that would be contrary to the truth. So the mystery remains and — as with all the mysteries of religion — we can only bow our heads and say: "I believe, Lord; help Thou my unbelief."

Canadian Admiral Retires
