Redemptorists
Dutch Guiana
Mission Grows

REDEMPTORISTS IN DUTCH GUIANA
— (NC) — Redemptorists of South America have established a new mission in Dutch Guiana, the Netherlands possession on the north coast of South America opposite Surinam. The mission is located in the town of Paramaribo, capital of Dutch Guiana, 10 miles up the Surinam River.

During the 200 years, when the Netherlands were under Spanish rule, the number of Catholics grew from 100 to 10,000, according to Father Alfonso de la Peña, Superior of the mission.

During the 1800's, when the Netherlands became independent, the number of Catholics increased to 10,000, according to Father Alfonso de la Peña.

Today, the number of Catholics in Dutch Guiana has increased to 10,000, according to Father Alfonso de la Peña.

Furrier

MURRAY PROJENKY

Profit-Sharing For Our Employees

Employees of Projenky Inc., furriers, received a check totaling 5 percent of their individual earnings during the past year at the annual employees picnic Saturday, Aug. 17, at the company-owned mink fur farms in West Bloomsfield.

In calculating the establishment of Projenky's profit sharing plan which includes vacation pay for every employee, James M. Projenky stated it was his purpose to return each year a percentage of the company profits to the people who have been instrumental in the growth of one of Rochester's foremost retail outlets from a small tailoring business.

The firm's president, James M. Projenky, said the company has also been making steady progress in the field of clothing, particularly men's suits.

Projenky's profit sharing plan has been well received by the employees.
