Needless dwelling on traditional about Catholic history, doctrine, or practice which seemed their questions in The Information Desk, 2240 Lake Avenue, Rochester 12 N. Y. Moral problems should be presented to those priests in the confessional. Names should be signed to questions, although they will not be printed.

Why does the Catholic Church tend to oppose compulsory military service? Isn't this a matter of faith and conscience?
 He feels called. But compulsory military service makes this very difficult for him. His schooling is interrupted, his preparation for his career is hindered in its very beginning, he is hampered from entering marriage and normal family life. Everyone who has seen how the draft has disrupted the lives of thousands of individuals. For this reason the Church considers it a definite evil.

On Our Blessed Mother's Birthday
 Greetings of love to your Immaculate Heart
 On this your Birthday, O Mother most dear
 As we say our rosaries to thee this day...
 The mysteries deep in our hearts will lay.
 Our Rosary bouquet we place at your throne
 And offer to thee for sins to atone
 And trust that your children all may be In heaven with thee for eternity.

the person is the creature of the State. For children will be raised — as they already are — in State kindergartens. — Nuf said.

The Soviet regime is still as tenuous with minorities as reported in "I Chose Freedom". While men wrangle in Paris, I keep thinking of Moscard's poignant paragraphs about a mass deportation that, to my knowledge, has never seen print and has only been equalled by Stalin's formerly Hitler for cynicism and coldness.

It is the story of hundreds of thousands of Roumanians deported on a few hours notice. The pattern is familiar: the visit by the Red Army or the Secret Police at dawn; the hurried packing; the silent march by the men to the waiting freight cars. There, 40 men to the car, they waited on sidewalks, consuming their own food. Train by train of cars left Roumania in the ensuing days for the coal mines of the Karkassanda region of Kazik.

... men made to vanish over the bleak horizon with the twist of an engineer's throttle... never to see their loved ones again.

The curtain behind the iron curtain does not end with human lives. It extends to nations that are prisoners with those nations. It regards relief in terms of political possibilities for converts and it regards occupation as the opportunity for loot.

POOREST GAMBEL
 A London newspaper calls this... "the poorest Gambel in all the world." That's a eulogy. Please do not forget those destitute colored Carmelite Sisters at Heraklion, outside Athens, Greece. Even their clothes are in shreds.
