'Living Rosary' Set For Holy Name Rally

A colorful and impressive tableau in the form of a Living Rosary is to be presented in connection with public recitation of the Rosary at the Holy Name Rally, Sunday afternoon, October 6, in the Red Wing Stadium, according to John A. Mattie, General Chairman of the Committee arranging the event.

More than five hundred girls from Our Lady of Mercy High School will be arranged on the field to represent the Cross, medal and beads of the Rosary, laid out in the form of a huge heart. A girl wearing a flowing mantle of red, white, and blue, closely surrounded by a group of girls also costumed in these same colors, will represent each bead.

As the Rosary is recited by the entire assemblage, the girls representing each succeeding bead will spread out, opening the heart of this brightly colored mantle like the opening petals of a flower. When the recitation of the Rosary has been completed, the Living Rosary will have come fully to life, presenting a spectacle of surpassing beauty.

In capes of blue and gold, Nazareth Academy's Percussion Choir, under the direction of Rev. Benedict Ehmann, will furnish the musical setting, and will sing Ave Maria by well-known composers, between the various decades of the Rosary.

Bp. Kearney Cites Nursing Ideals for 12 Hornell Grads

Morness — Nursing as a vocation inspired by God must, to be worthy of its name, embody the spiritual as well as the academic. The Most Rev. James E. Kearney, Bishop of Rochester, today graduated 12 graduates of St. James Mercy Hospital, Thursday afternoon, Sept. 12, at exercises held in St. Ann's Church.

Too often, His Excellency contended, the nurse today places emphasis on the purely educational aspect. The truly worthwhile nurse goes beyond the realm of learning and gives to her vocation the qualities associated with ideals of motherhood — gentleness, self-sacrifice and unselfishness.

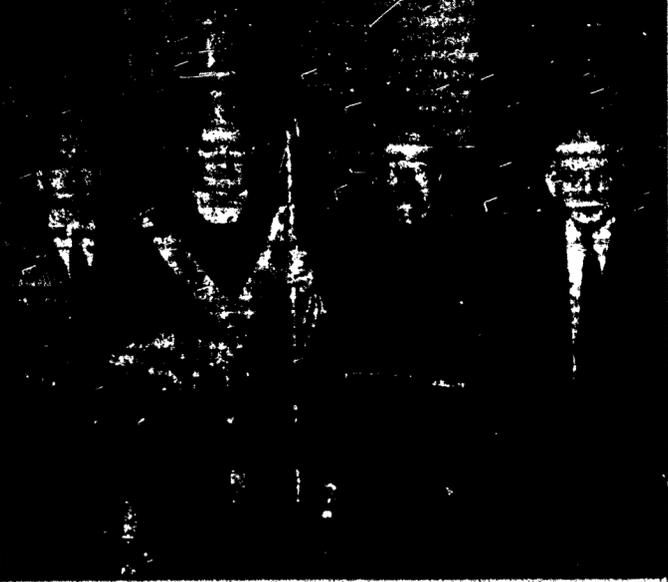

It is fitting, Bishop Kearney declared, that graduates in a vocation so closely concerned with the spiritual and so dependent for its success upon the Grace of God, receive their diplomas in a Church. A silent prayer is of far greater value, he concluded, than a round of applause.

Graduates Listed:
Lena Castellino, Colleen Dayton, Jean Elder, Ethel Hildebrand, Edna Kilbury, Alice Marie, Lois Meyer, Jennette, Omin, Glenora, Pike, Dolores Rouscher, Jean Spalding and Elizabeth Whitrow.

The Rev. Andrew T. Dissett congratulated the graduates and presented them to Bishop Kearney. Services were closed with the Solemn Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

In the Sanctuary were the Rev. John E. Maney, and the Rev. Joseph Donohue of Rochester, the Rev. William Chapman of Elmira Heights, the Rev. Andrew T. Dissett, the Rev. Ignatius X. Cameron, the Rev. Paul Gibbons, the Rev. John Healy, and the Rev. Paul Murley of Hornell, and the Rev. John P. O'Malley, recently returned army chaplain.

Principals at Lawyers' Church Rite

Red Mass Speaker Warns Of Legal 'Saboteurs'

"A dangerous company of saboteurs clothed in the cap and gown of an academic Fifth Column, voices in the highest professional places of our land, are schooled in the legal mind of the future in intellectual treason," the Rev. Fidelis O'Rourke, O.P.M., former New York City attorney, declared yesterday at the Lawyers' Red Mass in St. Joseph's Church.

In an age when some of the country's God and Gods law, the very foundations of our civilization are in deadly peril, Father Fidelis warned the large congregation of Rochester attorneys attending the Mass.

His Excellency, Bishop Kearney offered the Mass of the Holy Ghost with solemn and impressive rites asking Divine Guidance of the Courts of Justice as the full term opens.

A member of the faculty of St. Bonaventure College, the speaker, Father Fidelis, drew attention to the "Burbules which pragmatism, a doctrine which credits nothing beyond the pale of physical phenomena, has made upon law, the guardian of our own democracy and of the peace of the world."

"During the four centuries which has elapsed since the society of the West rejected the complete doctrine of the Divine Legislator," the Franciscan asserted, "its tutors have gone to the wrong sort of schools and become smart, snobbish, and sophisticated. They have lost the manners learned at the knee of their Mother, the Church. They have made all sorts of easy compromises with flesh and with falsity."

Basic of this compromising weakness of society is the denial of a divinity beyond humanity, and of any law beyond human law, the outgrowth of pragmatism, he explained.

Referring to the country's jurists who accept the pragmatic doctrine which denies Duties and Rights, the former lawyer queried: "Are they unmindful that the structure of government must collapse with the removal of its foundation?"

Emphasizing the imminent dangers of pragmatism, he continued: "This terrible doctrine is poisoning the wells of jurisprudence. It is psychological warfare on the side of anarchy."

"For if I say that I have a right to do what I wish without considering the rights of others,

FR. O'MALLEY SAYS OVERSEAS MORALE GOOD

Morness — "Soldiers of America's Army stationed with the U. S. Army of Occupation in Germany need not worry," the Rev. John P. O'Malley, recently returned Army chaplain said in discussing the morale and behavior of the men in his spiritual charge. "The morale of the boys is excellent," he continued.

Father O'Malley, who returned to this country last week after three years' service in the U. S. Army chaplain corps, is now the guest of the Rev. Andrew T. Dissett. He will spend some time here renewing acquaintances and will receive his appointment from the Most Rev. James E. Kearney, Bishop of Rochester, at the conclusion of his terminal leave September 21.

For the past several months, Father O'Malley with the rank of captain, was stationed at the English enclave at Bremerhaven. While there he was in charge of three battalions, including as many as 2,000 men. Aside from directing the spiritual needs of the large groups, he supervised the training of resident chaplains, advised commanding officers on matters of religion and was general liaison officer between the community and social agencies, such as the Red Cross, Active and Trained.

During the war, Father O'Malley was with the Second Cavalent hospital unit of the Seventh Army, which was mobilized behind the front lines. He participated, by voluntary service in the Sunset Dueseldorf Bridge crossing.

Chosen as a representative chaplain from the American Zone he attended the Consistory at Rome.

While on the continent he had two audiences with Pope Pius XII. He was also a special guest of Cardinal Mooney, and while in Rome met the Rev. Lawrence B. Casey, an old friend from the Rochester Diocese who flew there to witness the elevation of the cardinal.

Before coming home Father O'Malley was able to visit the Grotto at Lourdes, and also to meet Teresa Neumann.

Father O'Malley enlisted in the Army three years ago. He trained at Camp McCain in Mississippi and Camp McClellan, Alabama, following his graduation from Chaplain Training School in Cambridge. He spent about two years in the European Theater.

He was assistant pastor of St. Ann's Church for seven years.

Altar Group to Begin Meetings on Oct. 8

At a recent meeting of the officers of the Altar and Rosary Society, Our Lady of Lourdes Parish, Elmira, final plans were approved for a program to include activities that will be held during the remainder of the year.

The first meeting of the Fall season will be held Tuesday, Oct. 8, in the church hall. A picnic supper will be followed by recitation of the Rosary and Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament. The regular business meeting has been arranged for and the evening activities will conclude with a social hour and games.

Msgr. Sheen Cites Three To Avert Threatening Peril

Auburn—The Signs of the Times point to the approaching danger of a catastrophe, according to Monsignor Fulton J. Sheen, who addressed a group here of 1,700 in the Emerson Auditorium of East High School, last Sunday.

Making his fifth annual appearance here under the auspices of the Loyceum Players of St. Mary's Church, the noted Catholic orator, stated that in the present situation "there are three ways out: the Revolution, Revelation and Reconciliation."

Mr. Paul Meyer, local civic leader, introduced Monsignor Sheen, and the Rev. Leo M. Mangan, chairman of the Emerson Auditorium, presented the orator. This gathering is being given in aid of the fund for the construction of a new St. Mary's church.

Interpreting the "Signs of the Times," as he called his address, Monsignor Sheen began by stating, "This will be a great occasion. I have chosen this particular day because of the words which Our Blessed Lord used in answering the Pharisees and Sadducees when they asked Him to give them a sign. He answered them by saying: 'You are able to read the signs of the weather but you are not able to read the signs of the times.'"

"Do you realize that we have not had a single year of peace since the end of the last war, that something has not happened in the future? There are signs of the times. In the international order, our peace has been founded on seven pillars: security and the law."

YOU, ALSO, CAN PLAY
THE HAMDON

With a new Hammond Organ, you can play beautiful, vibrant music. The Hammond Organ is a masterpiece of engineering and craftsmanship. It is the only organ that can play like a piano. It is the only organ that can play like a violin. It is the only organ that can play like a trumpet. It is the only organ that can play like a drum. It is the only organ that can play like a horn. It is the only organ that can play like a string quartet. It is the only organ that can play like a symphony orchestra.
