Hollywood In Focus

In these days of gushing film reviews, and fast Hollywood news stories, it is like a fresh breeze to read in the secular press a n evaluation of the moral effect of movies written by Dr. John W. Dodds, Professor of English and Dean of the School of Humanities at W. H. Moorehead Stanford University.

Dr. Dodds' article, syndicated by the Los Angeles News, in most respects sets a pattern for the literati to follow in dealing with the world's most popular entertainment, motion pictures. It is written with charity as well as clarity.

As executive secretary of the National Legion of Decency, Monsignor McClafferty expressed concern regarding the recent change of the motion picture production code. Before the recent change, this motion picture code must never be presented.

Catholic Hour

Rev. John J. Dougherty, Professor of Scripture, Immaculate Conception Seminary, Burlington, N. J., will speak on the subject, "Advent, Saviour and Promise" on the Catholic Hour, Sunday, Dec. 1-2, over the NBC network.

"MARGIE" (Fair). 20th Century-Fox. Here is an amusing, mostly little story, delightfully told in technicolor and peppered with present music. Opening with a scene of mother (Jeanne Crain) and daughter (Ann Todd) rummaging in the attic, it flashes back into reminiscences of mother's life from early girlhood to suggest the ways of youth and romance were much the same twenty-five years ago as today.

Ring Aids Bells of St. Mary's

St. Mary's, Calif. — (NC)—Students at St. Mary's College here in Morgan Valley are backing a campaign to install bells in the tower of the campus chapel.

The fund was originated by George Pausanias, editor of The Collegian, campus newspaper, and the party was started with an associated contribution from an alumnus of the class of 1946. Then a "natural" gave impetus to the drive when Ring Aids, war of "The Bells of St. Mary's," made a contribution for the "bells of St. Mary's."

"CHILD OF DIVORCE"

(Adults) RKO Radio. Based on the Leopold Atlas play "Wednesday's Child" a totally different version of which was filmed some years ago, this picture, written and produced by Lilla Hayward, throws a timely spotlight on the mental and spiritual suffering of children whose parents break up the home and deprive them of joint parental love and guidance.

It is forcefully acted by the main cast, including Ralph Tandy, Made Meredith, Walter Reed, Sharyn Moffett and Urs O'Connor, supported by Doris Merrick, Harry Cheshire, Selmer Jackson, Patricia Priest, Gregory Murnighan, George McDonald, Percy Corvase, Lillian Randolph and Ann Carter. Excellent direction by Richard O. Fleischer, action over-plays argument. Some of the children, notably Patricia Priest and George McDonald, are standouts.
