BOUQUET FOR VOLUNTEER

Adolph Cirulli presents bouquet to Mrs. William Antes, a gift from campaign workers. Mrs. Antes volunteered to direct the office set up for the campaign although not a member of St. Anthony's parish. Her work was outstanding day and night in the campaign, her fellow-workers reported.

thur DeMattia of Rochester, sister of Father Simonetti, Father St. George, Francis T. Mogros, Arthur DeMattia, Mrs. Adolph Cirulli, Mrs. William Antes, Mrs. Mario Forte, and Adolph Cirulli.

Through the dinner, the guests were entertained by an orchestra led by Anthony D'Andrea. The singing was led by Thomas C. Devlin who also contributed a number of highly appreciated baritone solos.

Gifts of a humorous nature were bestowed upon the campaign leaders, the most striking perhaps, being blond wigs which went to Co-chairmen Cirulli and Cavaluzzi whose natural thatch has somewhat thinned with the passing of the years. Messrs. D'Onofrio and Morcell, acknowledged to have won as leaders of the men's division over the women's division led by Mrs. Forte and Mrs. Rossi, received engraved trophies. These were inexpensive kitchen measuring cups.

Father Brien and Father Randall touched on the spiritual significance of the campaign to restore the church to the city's Italian community and saw, in the successful campaign, an evidence of strong faith. Father Randall ventured the belief that the campaign could not be surpassed for speed and enthusiasm in the United States.

"I would say that, without fear of contradiction, I know of no other parish, not in the Diocese of Rochester, not in the State of New York, nor in the entire country that has ever or will ever duplicate the job you have done," Father Randall declared.

"This has been a truly wonderful campaign," remarked Father Simonetti in a message to the campaign teams and to his parishioners.

"We have come within 10 per cent of realizing our goal, a remarkable achievement. To the men and women on our teams, to the people of St. Anthony's parish, to our friends all over Elmira, to our newspapers and radio — to everyone who has helped so splendidly — I express my deepest thanks.

"That help so promptly and so generously given, will continue through the years to be an inspiration. It will have tangible form in the new church and school which we are to build.

"Actually the campaign has not ended; merely the intensive phase. We still have work to do and hard work it will be. The donation lists haven't closed. We still welcome contributions. And with God's help, we shall reach our goal.
