

Warsaw Recognition By Britain Is Seen

London (NC) (Cable)—The British Labor Government, spurred on by pressure from the extreme left and, some believe by a secret deal made in Moscow, is so the surprise and bitter disappointment of British Catholics, moving toward full recognition of the Warsaw Government, whose election has been denounced as fraudulent.

Busy Priest Dies at 47

Washington (NC) — It can be said truly that Father Hugh Sullivan, O.F.M., was the most busy priest in America. He was 47 years old when he died suddenly at Providence Hospital, was professor of dogmatic theology and church history at the Franciscan College of the Holy Name here, and also held down the job of chaplain of the Newman Club at the University of Maryland.

Niagara Hears Negro Solution

Buffalo (NC) — A kind of a religious solution of the problem of Communism was given by the Rev. Father John J. O'Connell, C.S.C., at the annual meeting of the Niagara University Students' Association here.

He said that there is a real problem in Communism only because we are not living in a Christian society. He said that the solution is to live in a Christian society and to live in a Christian society.

Supreme Court Bus Verdict Seen Justified

Milwaukee (NC) — Though the Supreme Court in its recent New Jersey school bus decision was concerned with upholding a genuine separation of Church and State, it was really acting to vindicate religious freedom, parental rights and civic equality, the Rev. Allan F. Farrell, S. J., associate editor of America, declared in his address at commencement exercises here.

"What the Court did, in effect," Father Farrell explained, "was to place in their proper perspective the two significant clauses of the First Amendment: 'Congress shall make no law respecting an establishment of religion, or prohibiting the free exercise thereof.'"

"A good many American citizens were shocked at the Supreme Court decision," he said. "They had taken their concepts of separation of Church and State entirely from the 'no establishment' clause, and they were shocked to find that there are two clauses, and that there is no free exercise of religion as long as Catholics, Lutherans, Baptists, Methodists, Presbyterians or any others are denied their full civic rights because of their faith or lack of it."

"According to this decision, free bus transportation and other public welfare services cannot be given to some children and denied to others solely on the basis of their religious faith," he said.

"A second significant aspect of the New Jersey ruling," Father Farrell added, "is the fact that the Supreme Court has recognized the right of the State to regulate the operation of the school bus system, and that this right is not subject to unreasonable restriction or regulation by the State."

IN NATIONAL SPELLING BEE

Eight parochial school children were among the 55 finalists in the 30th annual National Spelling Bee, in Washington, sponsored by Scripps Howard and other newspapers throughout the United States. Msgr. Boland Sees Reds Out of Jap Labor Moves

Yokohama (NC) — There is no room for Communism in relations between management and labor because Communism "is not interested in wage levels and trade unions, but only in the use of labor disputes for advancing political ends," Msgr. John P. Boland of Buffalo said here in an appraisal of the Japanese labor situation.

Msgr. Boland, who came here at the invitation of Gen. Douglas MacArthur to serve as the allied commander's labor consultant in lending moral and economic aid to Japan's infant democracy, asserted that the machinery of grievance-handling, incorporated in Japan's new labor relations adjustment act is adequate to remove the perils of sudden work stoppage that might injure the nation's fragile economy.

Msgr. Boland continued: "No sane assumption of the dignity of man's labor can be found than in the making and keeping of good labor-management contracts."

He said that the compromise does not mean an arbitrary halving of the proposals and counter-proposals. It has to do with the willingness of both parties to make all possible concessions, he said.

Gannett Lauds Fight on Reds

St. Bonaventure (NC) — Frank E. Gannett, Rochester newspaper publisher, paid particular tribute to the "Catholic church's fight against the evils of Communism" here at the 35th annual commencement Sunday. "No other church, no organization has done so much or worked so effectively to ward off this threat to freedom of press, speech, and religion," he said.

The Rochester publisher was one of four outstanding men awarded honorary degrees by St. Bonaventure College. He received the doctor of laws.

Sixty-nine undergraduate and twenty-five graduate students were awarded degrees. Included was 24-year-old Edward J. Hoy, blind Marine veteran from Buffalo, who graduated "with honors" with a bachelor of business administration. Hoy was hit by a sniper's bullet on Okinawa.

New Orthodox Bishop Named To Fight Reds

Washington (NC) — One of varied late developments in affairs Russian and Communist in this country and abroad, was the naming of Archbishop Vitaly of New York, to the post of ruling Archbishop of the American and Canadian diocese of the (schismatic) Russian Orthodox Greek Church. In the latest move against attempts of Communists to gain control of the Orthodox church in America.

The appointment was made by the Synod of Bishops, supreme governing body of the church outside Russia, and in a proclamation issued to all its communicants, the Archbishop warned of the powerful Soviet drive to capture the church.

The struggle within the church in America came to a head last fall when the Sobor (church assembly) meeting, in Cleveland voted to recognize the spiritual authority of the Moscow Patriarch Alexei. Subsequently this vote failed to gain the necessary approval of the Synod of Bishops and was nullified.

Archbishop Vitaly's appointment gives him authority to assert both spiritual and administrative leadership. The American and Canadian diocese comprises most of the Orthodox Church in this hemisphere.

Among other developments in the domestic Communist picture were these: Here in the nation's capital, G. Harsh Elder, who has been termed Moscow's representative to the Communist Party in the United States, went on trial in U. S. District Court on charges of contempt of the House of Representatives, growing out of his refusal to testify at a hearing last February.

The Civil Service Commission has estimated that FBI investigations of between 52,000 and 62,000 persons may be required in proposed loyalty tests of present and prospective U. S. employees.

Allis-Chalmers Strike — Another House group, the Labor Committee, attributed to the 1941 Allis-Chalmers strike to Communists and adopted a subcommittee report which held that Harold Christoffel, former president, and Robert Buse, president of the CIO United Automobile Workers union at Allis-Chalmers, had testified falsely under oath before the committee.

At hearings in March the union leaders denied they were Communists.

Anti-Moscow

A leader in the fight against Moscow's attempt to control his church, His Grace, Archbishop Vitaly (above), of New York, has been appointed ruling Archbishop of the American and Canadian diocese of the (schismatic) Russian Orthodox Greek Church Outside of Russia and North American representative of the Synod, Archbishop Vitaly asserts that 200 bishops of the Russian Orthodox Church are still in Russian jails or murdered. (NC Photos)

Communists, Louis Budenz, former Communist editor, turned to Catholicism, in testimony before the committee, asserted that Mr. Christoffel was ordered by Eugene Dennis, now secretary of the Communist Party, to "pull" the strike.

While the House Committee on Un-American Activities made it known that hearings in its general investigation of Communist influences in Hollywood will be held in the Nation's capital in September, members of Actors Equity Association in New York halted the defeat of the left wing slate in their elections as "the beginning of the end" of the Red faction in the A. F. of L. union.

And on the international scene, Senator Arthur H. Vandenberg of Michigan, discussing the Communist coup which threw Hungary into Red control, has declared that the United States has a "duty" to demand an "United Nations investigation in the event it is confirmed that the coup is a treacherous conquest of a brave exploited people" by minorities.

A warning that Communism would take over in Germany if the United States quits feeding Germans was issued by Tracy S. Voorhees, who is in charge of the food distribution for the War Department in occupied nations, in a nation-wide radio address.

Social Schools Merged Under CU Direction

Washington (NC) — In a move involving transfer of endowments and property valued at more than half a million dollars, the National Catholic School of Social Service has been merged with the School of Social Work of the Catholic University of America.

The funds and property have been turned over to the university by the board of trustees of the N. C. S. S. S., on which the National Council of Catholic Women has the majority membership, and the merger was jointly announced by the two institutions. The proposed action had been approved by the N. C. C. W. at its convention last September in Kansas City.

The unification of the two schools, an important event for education in Catholic social work, also has the approval of administrative boards of the National Catholic Welfare Conference, of which the N. C. C. W. is a unit, and of the board of trustees of the Catholic University of America.

With announcement of the merger, Msgr. Patrick J. McCormick, rector of the Catholic University, announced that the Very Rev. Msgr. John J. McCafferty has been appointed dean of the unified school by the university's board of trustees.

The agreement between the National Catholic School of Social Service and the Catholic University provides: That the name of the unified school be the National Catholic School of Social Service of the Catholic University of America; that the Catholic University provide and maintain a residence hall for the women students of the National Catholic School of Social Service; that the university assume all responsibilities of the terms of the endowment fund of the National Catholic School of Social Service; that all assets and liabilities of the National Catholic School of Social Service be turned over to the university with full academic and financial transfer becoming effective as of July 1 of this year.

The National Catholic School of Social Service was founded in 1921 and was the pioneer residence school of social service for women. The responsibility of the school was entrusted to the National Council of Catholic Women by the National Catholic Welfare Conference. Affiliated organizations of the National Council of Catholic Women have supported and maintained the school for more than a quarter of a century.

Rev. Andrew M. Regosh, S.T.L., Assistant Secretary

A Blessed Hope
Write for "IN THE HOPE OF THE CHURCH," a folder about our little Seminary on the Mount of Olives, Jerusalem. Six hundred dollars will train a Near East priest. Won't you make one your adopted son?

"TOO POOR TO DESCRIBE"
So writes Archbishop Joseph Ruffini about his little diocese of Hama, on the edge of the Syrian desert. "My heart bleeds when I look on the poverty of my priests and people. Yet they are all dear to God, and I know you will help them."

BLESSED GAIN
Members gained a plenary indulgence on June 13, the Feast of the Sacred Heart, and on fifty-two other days in the year. Why not join? Your dollar really membership helps poor missionaries.

CORPUS CHRISTI
What a fitting gift on the Feast of the Lord's Eucharistic Body will be a special challenge, given for fifty dollars to a little chapel in our mission lands.

DAY AFTER
The day after she heard her son had passed, Father Damien's mother died. Make your own sacrifice for these unfortunate lepers by adding to our DAMIEN LEPPER FUND.

WHY DID WE?
Why did we call that pamphlet "Happy Holidays"? We used it to all who give to "ORPHAN'S BREAD" for our starving children, and starvation is no holiday. Here is bread on running waters.

ONLY ONE
The only Communion Our Lord ever asked was one of reparation for the sins of others on the nine Fridays. Can you give ten dollars for the First Communion outfit of a Near East orphan child? Their pure hearts offer due reparation.

RELIC
In a Roman Church there is still preserved, the vestment dear St. Philip Neri used at Mass. Your dollar monthly to the MONICA GUILD, our Altar Sodality, helps us to send Mass vestments to poor missionaries.

HEADLINES
In this age of sudden death, do you think of insurance for eternity? Write for information on the Gregorian Masses, arranged for before death.

A THOUSAND THANKS
Those dear clustered Carmelite Sisters at Kadi Koy, Turkey, write us thankfully. Three days, our poor clustered nuns are suffering much. Please don't forget them.
