Vatican Astronomers Come To Purchase U.S. Equipment

The three astronomers from the Vatican observatory at Castelgandolfo now in this country to purchase scientific equipment have reached Cleveland in their tour.

They stopped at the Warner and Swasey Observatory in Cleveland this week to study the Schmidt-type telescope which has been used with outstanding success in star spectra studies.

All Jesuit priests, the Rev. Alois Gatterer, director of the Vatican Astrophysical Laboratory; the Rev. Joseph Juniks, vice-director of the Vatican Observatory and the Rev. Walter J. Miller, priest from the Archdiocese of New York and assistant at the Vatican Astrophysical Laboratory, they included Rochester in their visit and stopped recently at the Bausch & Lomb Optical Company.

Father Miller is the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Miller, formerly of St. Michael's Parish, Rochester.

While the Vatican astronomers live and work regularly at the papal summer residence about 15 miles from Rome the priests removed themselves and many of their instruments to Vatican City during the war.

Father Gatterer particularly has aroused the admiration of the scientists he has met in this country because he is carrying on exacting spectroscopy research despite severe physical handicap. A victim of infantile paralysis some 30 years ago the aged Jesuit is unable to stand or walk erect.

His spectroscopic analysis of some 800 meteorites in the papal collection published in a spectroscopic atlas of rare earths is now regarded as almost indispensable to scientists working on problems of atomic energy.

Greece Lists Only 50,000 Catholics

Rome —(NC)— The church, which once flourished in Greece, has dwindled to 50,000 faithful and approximately 150 priests, according to the latest statistics compiled by the information service of the Sacred Congregation for the Oriental Church.

The Archdiocese of Athens, which embraces all continental Greece with the exceptions of Epirus and the Vicariate of Salonica, has approximately 30,000 Catholics and only 12 diocesan priests. The population of Greece is upward of 7,000,000. There are nine religious houses for men manned by 78 Religious and eight religious institutions for women with a personnel of 86 nuns, in the archdiocese.

Throughout the country there are eight ecclesiastical districts for Catholics of the Latin Rite and in addition there is an Exarchate for the Byzantine Rite faithful and an Ordinate for the faithful of the Armenian Rite. In some dioceses there are fewer than 200 faithful and in one diocese, Scio, there is but one diocesan priest.

District Head

FRANCIS T. TOOMEY

K. of C. District Deputy Post Goes To F. T. Toomey

Francis T. Toomey, retiring grand knight of Rochester Council, Knights of Columbus, has been named district deputy of the 54th district by State Deputy-elect William E. Burke, it was announced in Utica, this week.

His first official act will be to install officers of Rochester Council headed by Grand Knight-elect John J. Kinney at the regular meeting on Thursday, July 10, in Columbus Civic Center.

District Deputy-designate Toomey will succeed William J. Hanoven of Canandaigua.

The new district deputy will take office on July 1 when he will also complete three terms as grand knight of Rochester Council. During that time his administrations were particularly marked by success of the Sunday morning canteen for servicemen which Grand Knight Toomey personally directed.

A former county commander of the American Legion and ex-Navy man, he is still functioning as president of the K. of C. Canteen Group providing creature comforts and cheer for disabled veterans.

District deputies to guide other councils in Rochester Diocese named by State Deputy Burke are: Eugene F. Agan, Elmira; Victor DeWeaver, Newark, and James McGuinness, Wellsville, whose district covers councils in this diocese.

Writers' Reparation

Mexico City, D. F.—(NC)—In a ceremony of reparation to the Sacred Heart of Jesus, held in the Church of the Incarnate Word here, the Rev. Jose O. Rossi, S.J., asked in a prayer for journalists and writers: "May we always use our pen to defend our country, our homes, our sacred religion, our sacred rights, our persons, our church and our ministers."

'Prayer Saved Us' Say Irish Fishermen Adrift 20 Days

London— (NC) —Three Irish fishermen who say they were saved by prayer were landed at Oban, West Scotland port, after being adrift for 20 days in the Atlantic, thirteen without food.

They were Austin Burke, 30, Gerald Linder of the Aldwr Sect of Murrisk, County Mayo, Eire; Thomas Farrell, 40, and John Kavanagh, 43, both of Arklow, County Wicklow.

The men sailed from Murrisk, whitewash village below Ireland's national pilgrimage center of Croagh Patrick—scene of St. Patrick's fast—on May 8 and were caught in a gale and blown out to sea 65 miles. They ran out of fuel. A big wave smashed the rudder of their 34-foot craft, broke the compass and split the sails. They drifted helplessly and after the fourth day when their food was finished they existed on seaweed.

They baled the water out day and night, and all the time they prayed.

The three men were found lying in the bottom of the boat, unable to move, when rescued off Barra, in the Hebrides Islands, by a trawler which immediately turned around and sailed them to Oban, nearly 100 miles away.

Mr. Burke said it was a miracle that they managed to survive. "In all our anxiety we never forgot our prayers," he said. "We prayed night and day that we might be rescued. We are sure that Skipper Brown (of the rescue ship) was sent from Heaven to our aid."
