

Scouts Adopt 3-Point Anti-Prejudice Program

Scouts of the world have adopted a three-point anti-prejudice program for their members. The program is designed to help Scouts understand and respect the differences between people of different races, religions and nationalities. The three points are: 1. To understand the differences between people. 2. To respect the differences between people. 3. To work together to overcome these differences.

St. Bernard's Dogs on Job

St. Bernard's dogs are on the job at the St. Bernard's Hospital. The dogs are trained to find and bring back people who are lost in the snow. They are also trained to help people who are injured or sick. The dogs are a great help to the hospital and the community.
