Bishop Praises Nun's 50 Years As An Ursuline

Bishop James E. Kearney of Rochester offered the analysis of Mother Edward's 50th anniversary of her profession at the College of Our Lady at the commencement of her Golden Jubilee, July 17 in the college chapel.

His Excellency paid tribute to Mother Edward's 50 years as an Ursuline Religious in a sermon in which he also extolled the work of the Ursuline order.

He stressed the power of prayer and contemplation, alluding to the liturgical richness of the prayers of thanksgiving offered to Almighty God in the votive Mass of Our Lady. This, he pointed out, was the most fitting and efficacious means of expressing gratitude to God for his blessing.

Importance of contemplation in the life of an Ursuline Religious could not be overestimated, he stated, since it was only in prayer that any kind of apostolic work would bear permanent spiritual values in the sight of God.

A Religious, he said, does not expect congratulations on the occasion of her jubilee, he said. Rather she desires that all unite with her in expressing gratitude to God for having granted her the privilege of serving Him 50 years in religion.

Holy Name Convention To Hear Madison Bishop
 New York—(NC)—Bishop William P. O'Connor of Madison will preach the sermon at the Solemn Mass in Holy Cross Cathedral, Boston, opening the five-day fourth National Holy Name Convention, October 1 to 5, it has been announced at National Holy Name headquarters here.

Bishop O'Connor, a chaplain with the 32d Division during World War I, who was decorated with the Croix de Guerre for his gallantry under fire, served as Archdiocesan Director of the Holy Name Society in Milwaukee prior to his elevation to the hierarchy.

26 Groups Join in Program For German Relief Sunday

Twenty-six German-American organizations will join forces to provide a varied program and entertainment at the Welfare Day for foreign relief Sunday, Aug. 10 at Schuylken Park.

Principal speaker for the day will be the Rev. John S. Randall, managing editor of the Catholic Courier-Journal and diocesan director of the Bishop's War Relief Committee.

Proceeds of the day will go in equal parts to the National Catholic Welfare Conference War Relief Fund and American War Relief Fund for Germany and Austria for distribution.

Highlights of the program will be Bavarian folk dances of the Bavarian Club Alpengruenz, songs by the famous Bavarian Trio and other vocal arrangements by the various German Singing Societies.

The Labor Lyceum Turner Section will give an exhibition of human pyramids. The combined Arnold and Heister orchestras will be under the direction of Mrs. Heister. No admission will be charged, but voluntary donations will be gratefully accepted.

The general public is invited to come and help provide sorely needed supplies for the needy abroad.

Post Gets Flag
 Formal presentation of a silk American flag and staff to St. Andrew's Catholic War Veteran Post 1201 of St. Andrew's Church, Rochester, was made by the Army Navy Union Auxiliary in its closing session of the annual convention. Rev. Raymond G. Heiser, post chaplain, received the flag.

Molokai Missionary Home After 13 Years With Lepers

Brussels—After working for 13 years among the lepers at Molokai, the Rev. John Mary Systemans, S.C.C., has come back to Brussels for a rest.

Father Systemans said that in the time of Father Damien, the renowned "Apostle of the Lepers," there were 1,200 lepers on the island. Today, he said, there are 300, of whom 200 are Catholics. He related that the headway against the disease has been accomplished by sanitation.

"The Molokai lepers are not unhappy," Father Systemans said. "Most of them have accepted their sickness in a Christian way. Those who are able to work a few hours each day are paid for their labors. Swimming, motion pictures and sports are the principal recreations."

"The lepers live in homes which they have built themselves. Leprosy is not contracted as easily as it is supposed. I know of an instance of a woman whose husband was a leper. She lived with him on Molokai for 15 years and after he died, she left the settlement. She was immune from the disease."

Father Systemans said that a group of Franciscan sisters aid in work at the colony. The Mother Superior, he said, had known and worked with Father Damien.

110 Girls at Camp Stella Maris

A different atmosphere will pervade Camp Stella Maris on Conesus Lake this Sunday when 110 girl campers will come to enjoy their summer vacation.

A trained staff of girls and women is ready to meet the campers. Through special arrangements, the girls are promised two full weeks of fun and interesting experiences.

Each camper will have the opportunity to learn, like a camp song, help with the camp paper, "Stella Maris," try her hand at public speaking, participate in all kinds of sports and recreation, and in the evening, take part in the camp play.

Miss Agnes Barrows, in charge of the waterfront premises, every effort will be made to advance hopeful young swimmers. One of the rewards to be gained by becoming a "swimmer" is the chance to help man one of the two war canoes owned by the camp.

Miss Eileen McCarthy, craft director, offers a variety of interesting crafts: wooden scrap books, skippers, metal bracelets, leather belts, the ever-popular plaques and bookendings, stenciled kerchiefs and place mats.

Miss Shirley Stephens, director of sports, will instruct in archery and tumbling besides supervising the old favorites: baseball, volleyball and other camp sports. Campfire programs will be under the guidance of Miss Mary Ellen Treacott who has many tricks up her proverbial sleeve.

Miss Peggy Finigan will direct the camp play and "Sundays" will be edited with the assistance of Miss Jean Stephens. Hiking trips will be conducted by the Misses Marge Esterheld and Elaine Ringstein.

Miss Conley, the camp nurse will instruct in first aid. Craft assistants will be Miss Mamie Miceli and Jacqueline Parsons. Mary Sullivan, Betty Bauer and Eileen Cleary along with several other counselors will assist at the waterfront.

Preparing for her two-week stay at Camp Stella Maris, new camper Alice (right) receives guidance from old camper Arlene Quetcheman (left) and Counselor Mary Ellen Treacott (center).

Board Meeting in Elmira Set by DCCW on August 24
