Polish Workers Expelled From British Labor Union

New York — (NC) — Following the expulsion of 2,000 Polish workers from a British trade union, the Polish American Congress has protested to British authorities.

The Polish workers, all veterans of the last war, belonged to the Amalgamated Engineering Union, which had passed a resolution expelling the Poles from their jobs and barring Poles from union membership.

Charles Rozmarek, president of the Polish American Congress, said in his protest.

The decision was obviously intended to force the men to return to Poland regardless of their personal danger.

Since Britain constantly seeks American aid, we request your intervention to protect Polish workers who valiantly fought on the allied side throughout the war.

Catholic Sex Education Explained to Cana Group

Washington — (NC) — The impression of many that the Church condemns sex education is false, the Rev. Henry V. Sattler, C.S.S.I., of Holy Redeemer College here, declared at a three-day Cana Institute which was held at the Catholic University of America here.

The Rev. Sattler, who is director of the Cana Institute, said that the Church does not condemn sex education, but "exaggeratedly physiological instruction" devoid of religious and moral training, he declared.

Family life leaders from many parts of the country gathered here to participate in the discussions of the first national plan for Cana Institute. The members of the conference were welcomed by Magr. Edward B. Jordan, vice rector of the university, who pointed out the serious need of a Cana movement in view of the fact that one out of every three marriages in the United States ends in divorce.

Also included among program speakers was the Rev. Dr. Ed. Schmedeleer, C.S.E., director of the Family Life Bureau, National Catholic Welfare Conference.

Sex education differs vastly from sex instruction, Father Sattler continued. "Sex instruction means the imparting of the facts of life. Sex education includes this sex instruction but also includes the imparting of sexual knowledge plus a training in all the religious, moral, emotional and psychological facts and attitudes needed for a mature and healthy outlook on this matter. For a Catholic, sex education should equal adequate training in chastity and modesty.

The Church does not want to see her children ignorant, but ignorant of evil," the priest stated, adding: "That is, she would like to see them ignorant of sexual aberrations, perversions and crimes. She does not demand ignorance of facts of life, the names of parts of the body, the nature of marriage and the marriage act."

Assessing that "we have not been particularly characterized by family pride or family tradition in this country," Father Schmedeleer urged the leaders of the Cana movement to organize as a unit under the N. C. W. C. Family Life Bureau to work jointly in renewing family consciousness in the United States. Acting on the suggestion the conference decided to have the director of the institute appoint a committee of priests to draw up proposals for such a unit and to submit them to Bishop Peter W. Bartholomew, Coadjutor of St. Cloud and Episcopal Chairman of the Family Life Bureau, who in turn would submit them to the Bishops at their general meeting this fall.

Leaders wanted

During his address Father Schmedeleer outlined the work of the Bureau toward renewing family consciousness.
