HOLLYWOOD IN FOCUS

By W. H. Messing

Many people have written me at various times suggesting that it might be a good idea for Catholics throughout the United States to pool some money and sponsor the making of a few good movies. The thought is a worthy one. Those who rejected it saw that in order to illustrate Catholicism, the films of high moral and spiritual tone can succeed at the box-office, we might present the Hollywood producers with a little action instead of a lot of talk.

The hazards seemed great. I doubted the practicability of the idea. I wondered out loud who would assume responsibility for the choice of suitable stories and the highly specialized business of producing them. There would, I knew, be a tremendous rush of earnest volunteers. Many would be confident, although they never had set foot inside a film studio, that they could show Darryl Zanuck a few new tricks.

There would be hundreds, maybe thousands of embryonic actors pushing up through crowds to get their first screen role. Finally, the 64-dollar question would arise. Who would be willing to distribute the film? Even a good film may not find its way on to the market unless it is sponsored by major film interests who control Hollywood and the American theater systems.

Well, in spite of distribution hazards it has just been done in France. French Catholics, by national subscription, have financed through OFDA (L'Office Familial de Documentation Artistique) a film titled "Monsieur Vincent."

It tells the life story of St. Vincent de Paul, the subject having been selected not because it happens to deal with a saint, but because it presents strong dramatic possibilities. The story of a peasant priest, who in the face of tremendous difficulties, helped the poor and sick and raised the standards of French hospitalization from sordid misery to hygienic comfort, offers dramatic parallels to many successful Hollywood movie biographies.

It is a tale of heroism. It shows a man of faith and courage fighting for something he believes to be right and ends on a note of victory. Yet his motives are seen to be entirely selfless. The dramatic virtue of the story material was never in doubt. I have not seen the finished film.

On National Catholic Radio Programs

By W. H. Messing

Listen to the new Catholic radio program, THE SUNDAY EDITION OF THE COURIER-JOURNAL, sponsored by the Courier-Journal, over Station WHEC at 12:15 each Sunday this summer.

Rev. Richard Termy, associate editor of the Courier-Journal is the speaker. The program features the Catholic editorial point of view on current religious news. By supplying commentary and background material, the editors of the COURIER-JOURNAL will show the significance of the latest activities in the church.

Also worth hearing each week: Thursday at 10 p. m. on WHEC—THE FAMILY THEATRE. Saturday at 12:15 a. m. on WHEC—Secret Heart Program. Saturday at 12:15 a. m. on WHEC—Catholic Youth Program.

ON THE AIR

Jackpot. A couple of weeks ago a Mr. and Mrs. Albert Fowler of Rock, N. J., won what is said to be the largest cash award ever presented during a radio broadcast. Mr. and Mrs. Fowler walked off with the tidy sum of $7,400 on the "Break the Bank" show (ABC net, 9 P. M., E. D. T., Fridays).

The psychology of the quiz program has always interested me, too. For one thing, I suppose I do the same as thousands of listeners and that is, I sit there and try to answer the questions before the contestants even get their hands on the questions. I'm pretty good on such questions as: "What general, beginning with the letter 'L', surrendered to Grant at Appomattox?"

But when they hit those trick mathematical questions, as they do on the Dr. I. Q. show, I get thrown for a loss. At the questions of this sort some something like this, to me at least: "If a train leaves New York at 10 o'clock in the morning and the 900 miles to Chicago, how long will it pass a train leaving Chicago at 3:00 in the afternoon?"

I suppose that this is the fundamental appeal of the quiz show for the radio audience. An opportunity to match wits with the contestants while you're safe at home and far away from microphone. Usually you take a pretty good showing, too, while many of the contestants have the wits scared out of them. Then there is the audience participation show, where the contestants are asked questions a child could answer after spending one year in the first grade. The questions usually go something like this: "Master of Ceremonies: How do you do, Mrs. Glumph. And there are you from, may I ask?" Mrs. G.: I'm from Sitka, Idaho. M. C.: Sitka, Idaho! Meritly nice little town, Sitka. Just visiting New York, I suppose. Mrs. G.: Yes, I'm staying with my sister up in the Bronx. M. C.: And now, Mrs. Glumph, what prize do you see here that you'd like to take back to Sitka? Mrs. G.: Oh, I'd like the combination bathmat, pressure cooker and egg beater. Then Mrs. Glumph is asked something hard like, "What year was the Declaration of Independence signed?" Chances are she muffs the answer because she is scared to death. But the MC finally wheedles it out of her, and she gets the prize. This sort of program contrib-

Sensational Public Service. One of the tough arguments in radio is what constitutes a public service program. Well, the listener can load of public service shows during the past few weeks when the fans leaned over backwards to present the testimony of the Edward Hughes hearings in Washington. We are sitting on top of the A-bomb which is likely to go off
