NCCW Tie Studied In Canandaigua

Canandaigua — Four prominent leaders of the National Council of Catholic Women brought the story of affiliating with the national group to a meeting of 100 Rosary Society members here in St. Mary's Church Hall, Oct. 14.

Mrs. Frank Curtis, diocesan president, assisted by Misses Marjorie Howland and May Rose Maly and Mrs. Arthur P. Farren led the discussion.

Miss Howland explained what the NCCW is; Miss Maly showed why all Catholic organizations should join; and Mrs. Farren, the former Miss Mary Bigham of Canandaigua, told how to become affiliated with the national group.

On Tuesday, Nov. 11 a card party is to be held in the church hall with Mrs. Russell M. Trent as chairman and Mrs. Jack Rice, co-chairman. Mrs. Raymond Rodney will have charge of decorations and Mrs. Edward M. Hill, publicity. The bands headed by Mrs. Martin Dugan, Mrs. Sue Vecchi and Mrs. John Geisler will take care of refreshments.

Mrs. Charles Connely, chairman of the school committee, reported the success of the noon hour program for parochial school children, who, if necessary, must carry lunches. Thus far 25 women have assumed the supervision. Mrs. Harold Abraham, in the care of these children and all women who are interested in assisting are urged to give their names to Mrs. Courtney.
