James E. Marcellie is chairman of the dinner.

Threats to 'Little Irish' at Stadium

From Boys Town, the famous "Father Flanagan" institution in Nebraska will come the two above with the town's highly-touted football squad. Coming to break Aquinas Institute record are (left) Tom Carodine, regular quarterback, 19, senior, and from Omaha, and Harold Boswell, 16, a senior in Boys Town High School, from Falls City, Neb., left tackle. They will be seen in the lineup at Red Wing Stadium Sunday.

such enthusiasm for any sport in local history and the city's greatest crowd will pack the ballpark Sunday, rain or shine.

Individual stars of the visitors' squad are lead by Tom Carodine, 19-year-old Negro boy from Omaha, a resident of Boys Town for 7 years, who is currently the Mayor of the Town, and the team's triple-threat quarterback.

Listed as a player, a member of the Choir, a good student and a left-handed passer who has completed 32 passes this year for an average of 19 yards each try, Carodine will be the most dangerous enemy for the Irish defense.

His running mate is Fullback Joe Grabowski, a citizen of Boys Town for 8 years and a senior who weighs only 138 pounds but is rated as the third fastest high school sprinter in all Nebraska. Jake Williams, an end, and Dan Henry, a rugged center are also seasoned veterans.

Accustomed to large audiences, like the 43,539 who saw them play Detroit Central in 1944, Boys Town admits that their traveling team is publicity for the social work that Father Flanagan's school does for wayward and orphaned boys. He and his footballers have made Rochester Boys Town conscious this week as the whole city tried to buy tickets for the titanic struggle at the Stadium. By Monday the tickets were as scarce as pearls and police details had to be called out to control the crowds who pushed around the ticket counters. Rochester has never known
