Africans Donate for Other Missions, Fr. Erb Reports

African Catholics on the Gold Coast are learning that "God helps those who help themselves" at the hands of a former Rochesterian, Rev. Charles G. Erb, S.V.D., a missionary priest of the Society of the Divine Word.

"Americans besieged and belabored by missionaries will be cheered to know that we are trying to educate our newly-made Christians in the missions to support themselves," Father Erb reports.

IN A LETTER to the Very Rev. Msgr. John S. Randall, Rochester diocesan director of the Society for the Propagation of the Faith, the missionary reveals that his native Catholics "queued up" to contribute to the Society on Mission Sunday even as Catholics all over America were doing.

First results from "Coal-tar," one of his outlying stations brought a report by "special runner" that $15 had been collected at the rate of 25 cents per adult and 5 cents per child.

The children of Father Erb's African mission get a holy card betokening membership in the Holy Childhood Association. "If Africans like anything more than a holy card," says the priest, "it is another holy card. I hear their Ma ml photo (give me a picture) in my sleep."

Father Erb, who served in World War II with the Army Chaplain Corps, can't understand "why American boys and girls don't sign up in droves for this mission business. I got many a thrill out of war work as a chaplain but this has everything beat. It's not our fault if they miss this."

'Our Lady of Fatima' Drama Set by Nazareth Sodalists

The Sodality of Our Lady at Nazareth Academy will present a play entitled "Our Lady of Fatima" Monday and Tuesday evenings, Nov. 17 and 18, at 8:15 p. m. in the school auditorium.

Members of the cast are: Geraldine Cellura, as Our Lady; Ann DiGiuliano as Lucia; Mary Jean O'Neill, as Jacinta; Ann Cooney, as Francisco, and Anne Clark, as a guardian angel.

Aquinas students will enact the parts of Alfonso, king of Portugal, courtiers, soldiers, monks, a priest, a bishop and the Holy Father.

Chairmen of the play committees are: Dorothy Macon, tickets; Katherine Wiecwerek, programs; Joanne Garey, ushers, and Sheila O'Grady, stage manager.

The play, based on the apparitions of Our Lady of Fatima, opens in the twelfth century when the king of Portugal crowns Our Lady "Queen of Portugal" after the defeat of the Mohammedans in that country. The setting then shifts to 1917, the year in which Our Lady appears to Lucia, Jacinta and Francisco, three children of Fatima, Portugal. The celebration of the Silver Jubilee of Our Lady's appearance at Fatima in 1942 marks the closing scenes of the play.

More Nurses Aides Wanted

Once more the Rochester Chapter of the American Red Cross needs women to be trained as nurses' aides. This offers an opportunity to the women of Rochester to again serve their community in a most important and vital role. Not only will service be given in the local hospitals, but nurses' aides will be needed for the new Red Cross blood program, as they will assist in the non-technical duties, as well as in the canteen.

Although 1,000 women were trained as nurses' aides during the war, many have moved away, others have returned to their husbands from service have assumed their household responsibilities, and many were war casualties. All in all, a wonderful job was done by these volunteers during the emergency.

The new training class for 70 day-time aides, ages 18 to 55, will start Nov. 17 and will run for a month, recessing during the holiday season, and resuming again after Jan. 1. It will consist of 35 hours of classroom training and 65 hours of hospital supervision. 150 hours of service is the required time to be given at the hospital.

Call the Red Cross Chapter House, Main 7420, for an appointment for an interview.

Convent Benefit Style Show Set

A style show and card party sponsored by the Rosarians of St. Andrew's Parish, will be held Tuesday evening, Nov. 11 at 8:15 in the school hall, Portland and Dymas St.

Proceeds of the event will go into the fund for the new convent which will be started in the near future.

On the various committees are: General Chairman Mrs. Rose Ehart will be: Hostesses Gertrude Geiger, Rose Mintel, Lillian Gehl, Jamie Brown, Hazel Schenkler, Marian Bonner, Gertrude Dunstead, Agnes Kiley, Martha Nies, Gertrude Nies, Mary Manuel, Eleanor Schroeder, Charles Barnes, Margaret Ryan, Martha Rosenberg, Mary Hempel, Julia Pallett, Mary Vreeland, Mary Grunenmeyer.
